German State And Church Leaders

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 9, 4:30 a.m.)

Stuttgart, February 8.

Following the recent proclamation by Primate Mueller of the policy of reconciliation with the object of adjusting differences between radical and orthodox groups within the German protestant church, the pastors emergency league in Wuertemberg decided on voluntary dissolution in order to enable its members to cooperate wholeheartedly with State and Church leaders. The emergency league which at one time comprised about half the number of German clergymen was founded some time ago to oppose the radical interpretation of the Gospel and application of the Aryan clause in church which was demanded by "The German Christian movement."—Transocean Kuo Min.

ALLEGIANCE TO HITLER

Berlin, Feb. 8.

All members of the Steel Helmet Organisation are obliged to sign the written oath of allegiance to Adolf Hitler this month or suffer expulsion, as the result of the decree issued by the Steel Helmet chief and Labour Minister Selde on Thursday. This organisation composed largely of war veterans and once closely associated with the defunct radical party, was incorporated into the National Socialist storm troops ten months ago as "reserve corps." The Steel Helmet based his action on "unjustified complaints that the organisation was recently utilised in different parts of the nation as rallying points for reaction." The oath to which every member is obliged to subscribe in writing before February 28 reads as follows:—"Upon my word as a man and a soldier I pledge unconditional obedience to Adolf Hitler. I solemnly promise I will carry out the Fuehrer's command in every part of the nation with all my powers, and unreservedly oppose all attempts against the State be they Marxist or of a reactionary nature."—Transocean Kuo Min.

HEIMWEHR BUSY

Vienna, Feb. 8.

Encouraged by their successful coup in the Tyrol and Upper Austria whereby they succeeded in gaining full control and establishing semi-military rule, the Heimwehr has now taken similar action in the provinces of Styria and Burgenland where they presented the Governors with the same demand as in the Tyrol, namely the appointment of a provincial government which is independent of political parties and should comprise representatives of the Heimwehr, clean sweep of "disloyal officials," appointment of Heimwehr liaison officers for country prefects, and dissolution of all organisations, hostile to the State. The Governors have assumed a "benevolent attitude" towards the demand but insist that they are competent to fulfil all requests and therefore must wait instructions from Vienna. It is generally expected that the Heimwehr will not attempt to take the Socialist stronghold, city of Vienna by a similar surprise move. According to reliable information Vice Chancellor Fey who is also chief of the Vienna Heimwehr will head the delegation on Friday and will appear before the City Council to present their demands. Socialists and Communists are certain to put up a stiff fight, it being stated in these circles "Vienna would burst forth in flames" if the Heimwehr should attempt to carry out its intentions by force.—Transocean Min.

RUDYARD KIPLING

Admirers of Kipling had a treat on Tuesday, when Sir Henry Pollock gave a recitation to the English Association of some of the better known of Kipling's poems. Sir Henry imparted a good deal of vigour and feeling into his recitations and there is no doubt that many in the audience, upon hearing Sir Henry, there and then made up their minds to read a little more of Kipling. To local students, Kipling is perhaps best known for his "East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet." The opportunity was taken by Sir Henry to explain that it was absolutely wrong to say that Kipling wrote that for although the words appear in one of his poems, there was a great deal more which showed that when two strong men met face to face, there was neither East nor West.

NEWSPAPERS

I heard a very interesting address on newspapers in China recently by a leading Chinese journalist, who pointed out that the Chinese newspapers of Hong Kong and Shanghai were about the best examples one could see in China. The reading public however was very limited. The biggest circulation of any Chinese newspaper was about 160,000, while in Japan, the leading dailies counted as many as 1,500,000 readers. The reason for the small circulation in China was that illiteracy was more marked than in Japan. In one province the average newspaper reader was one in 15,000, which is remarkable. In Hongkong the average Chinese reader works out at 17 per hundred.

THE NEW SPIRIT

How many residents have heard of the "Young Men's Buddhist Association"? Yet such an organisation exists in Hongkong and its signboard in Chinese is prominently displayed over its home in Causeway Bay. To-day the new spirit seems to permeate men of every faith and creed and it is a healthy sign to see in a place like Hongkong, where men of diverse nationality and creeds come together, to see the strengthening of such ideas as would lead the younger generation to work together in a clean healthy spirit. Some years ago there was in Hongkong, a "Young Men's Islamic Society" so that it will be seen that the importance of setting the young in a community into channels of right thinking is being realised on all sides.

OPTIMISM

There is more need for optimism in Hongkong to-day than ever in its history. Enterprise and initiative are the outcome of optimism and the British Trade Commissioner chose a very appropriate subject, I thought, when he addressed the Rotary Club on Tuesday. It is refreshing to hear that the trade position in Great Britain is "gradually improving."

DOLLFUS HONoured

Budapest, Feb. 8.

Discussions between Chancellor Dollfuss and the Hungarian Premier have resulted in establishing agreement on all questions of mutual interest, states the official communique issued here on Thursday. The communique goes on to say that the two Statesmen agreed to continue the present policy in political, economic spheres which brought forth satisfactory and favourable results, both being convinced that their political and economic collaboration serving not only of interest to both countries but interests to European peace. The highest Hungarian decoration, Grand Cross order of Merit, was conferred upon Dollfuss by Regent Horthy.—Transocean Kuo Min.

"This" said Mr. Pelham, "has not come naturally but is the effect of economies and measures commenced in 1931." If we in Hongkong are optimistic and enterprising enough, we would get started on the road to recovery very much sooner than if we were to sit around and wait. What is needed to-day is initiative and courage in the face of numerous obstacles. "Safety first" is alright in its proper place, but some of our business men need a great big thump in the back to jog them up. They seem to take it for granted that nothing can help the situation here. This view is not only absurd, but distinctly dangerous.

PICTURES HELP

Some three or four years ago, I saw a wonderful film called "The Birth of a Flower." It was shown by an American gentleman who obtained good results after many months of patient photography. It was a most enjoyable film, and I was reminded of its excellence, when at the University on Wednesday, Dr. K. Mackenzie showed a film of Yunnan, which he had taken himself during a brief visit there. Next to visiting a country, the best thing is to see it in a cinematographic lecture. Admittedly some of Dr. Mackenzie's pictures were "amateurish" but of all the lectures on "Yunnan" which I have heard, Dr. Mackenzie's conveyed the most to me. Such is the assistance which pictures give to a lecturer.

THE COAL DUMP

Seemingly the coal dump in Wanchai is going to be a permanent fixture, since it is still growing in proportions. This is a pity and while the Government is spending money making a big children's playground, for the health of the youngsters, some attention should be paid to the health of the grown-ups who live near these coal dumps. At present, the weather being what it is, the effect of the presence of these coal mounds is not felt, but it will not be long before the hot season is with us again, and then, I should not like to be living in Wanchai. The area on which coal is being stored in the open, is growing each day!

PRIZE DAYS

There has been a flood of prize distributions at various schools this week. To the grown-up, perhaps these functions are of but little interest, but to the boys and girls in the schools of the Colony, the annual speech day or prize distributions are great events and they act as a tremendous incentive to work during the year. It is regrettable that the trade depression is also being felt in Hongkong schools, where the value of a good number of long-established scholarships (due to the lower rate of interest) have had to be reduced, and the prizes given out in the form of books etc., much less costly than they had been.

Modernisation Of System At Huge Cost

An "eight-year plan" to overhaul the railway system of France, at an approximate cost of $25,000,000 is the result of inquiries following the railway disaster at Lagny, near Paris, on December 24th in which over 200 persons were killed and many more injured.

Among the measures envisaged, according to Mr. Paganon, Minister of Public Works, are:

1. The installation of a new signalling system;
2. The quadrupling of certain main lines;
3. Reconstruction of shunting centres;
4. Modernisation of equipment in certain large stations;
5. Increased construction of steel carriages;
6. The conversion of existing wooden carriages to coaches made of metal; and
7. Modernisation of the despatching system.

The money will be raised by a loan as the present deficit in the railways precludes new expenditure.

A draft scheme has recently been put forward by the Minister of Industry, Chea Kung Fo, of a four-year industrial plan for China, an exposition of which was given by the originator in a recent issue of the Chinese Economic Journal. Recognising the very varied conditions that exist throughout China, it has been thought advisable to restrict the first activities to the development of a central area. That chosen as the most suitable, the Yangtze Valley, which extends through six of the most fertile provinces, will bring within reach the purchasing powers of 200,000,000 people. It is thought that if key industries can be successfully founded in four years in this territory, the basis will be established for a truly united China. The proposals naturally cover agriculture and mining, as well as general industry. Some of the industrial proposals are of great interest. While there are many collieries in China, 2,000,000 tons of coal are imported to the Yangtze Valley every year. It is believed that this is due to the inefficiency of internal transport. To meet immediate needs, it is proposed to establish a joint organisation to undertake the repair of wagons. The facilities that such efforts, properly conducted, should produce, it is thought, should result in the resumption of full production by the mines and effective utilisation of capital and labour. An iron and steel works with a daily capacity of 500 tons was originally contemplated. Instead of preparing in this single initial step, to supply what would amount to one-quarter of the total consumption of the country, it has been decided to plan for half of this quantity. Iron ore and coal are obtainable from mines to the north and south of the river, but difficulties in procuring suitable coal for coking have not been entirely overcome. The coal fields have been tested by drilling for suitable fuel. A sulphate of ammonia plant involving a capital expenditure of 11,000,000 dollars, has been under consideration. Another important item in the programme is the founding of a central machine works. For the erection of these, a plot of land has been purchased by the Government from the Hsaiquan Municipality, but the agreement of the banks in Shanghai to finance the construction, with a loan of 300,000 dollars, was later cancelled, owing to the financial stringency caused by recent hostilities. Funds for the purchase of machines have been arranged for, but the considerations of the type of machinery to be produced have not been completed. A hydro-electric scheme on the upper reaches of the Yangtze, with a generating capacity of 200,000 K.W. has also been contemplated, but it was now regarded as too expensive in first cost to be considered in the present financial conditions. The whole proposals, industrial, mining and agricultural, will involve the expenditure of 600,000,000 dollars, divided over four years, and it is thought that it will be possible to raise this by the introduction of State monopolies.

IRONWORKS COMBINE

Inaugural Meeting

The Japan Iron Manufacturing Company—embracing the Yawata Government Ironworks and five private concerns—will hold its inaugural meeting on Monday (29th instant). At a general meeting of the Organising Committee yesterday, all preparations were completed.

Originally seven private concerns were to participate in the merger, but owing to delay in procedure, the participation of the Toyo Seltetsu and the Osaka Seltetsu has been postponed to March. The new Company will have aggregate assets of Y345,940,000, as follows:

Yawata Iron works	Y239,195,000
Yawata (floating)	45,000,000
Rinzai Seltetsu	11,612,000
Kamaishi Kozan	22,594,000
Fuji Seiko	2,773,000
Mitsubishi Seltetsu	17,057,000
Kyushu Seiko	7,204,000
Subscriptions by directors and auditors	105,000
Total	Y345,940,000

The assets of the Toyo Seltetsu and the Osaka Seltetsu are estimated at Y13,881,000 and Y4,837,000, respectively, so that their participation will bring up the capital of the merger company to Y364,658,000.

It is expected that the new Company will appoint the Mitsui Bussan, the Mitsubishi Shoji, the Iwai Shoten and the Asaka Shoten its authorised distributors. These firms are dealers for the Yawata Ironworks at present. All authorised dealers of private companies, including the Kishimoto Shoten, the Tsuda Katsugoro Shoten and the Yamamoto Tosuke Shoten, are to establish a Y1,000,000 Company jointly to become an authorised dealer of the new company.

Showa Works and the Fenkihu

Steady progress is being made in the negotiations between the Showa Steel Works, a subsidiary of the S.M.R. Company, and the Fenkihu Iron Works, of the Okura firm, for amalgamation. Through the good offices of General Yoshida, adviser of the Kwantung Garrison, Admiral Godo, president of the Showa Works, and Mr. Chokuro Kadono, of the Okura firm, have met several times recently. It is said that agreement has already been reached in regard to the fundamental question, and if so, a merger is only a matter of time.

The Showa Steel Works will have an output of 460,000 tons, while the capacity of the Fenkihu Foundry is a little over 100,000 tons. In the event of the two companies amalgamating, therefore, the new Company will be the second largest in the Orient, next to the Japan Iron Manufacturing Company.

In the meantime, the Management of the Showa Steel Works is hurrying completion of its foundry and finishing mills, and it is hoped that the Company will be able to place its product on the market in April next year. Its plan is to manufacture 130,000 tons of sheet bars, 70,000 tons of rails, 33,000 tons of small shapes and 30,000 tons of sheets, or 463,000 tons in total.

The Showa Works will export 74,000 tons of billets and 126,000 tons of sheet bars to Japan, but will market the rest in Manchuria. It will cost Y80,000,000 to complete its works, and in order to cover part of this expenditure, the management is going to make a call on its unpaid capital.

Obliging a Lady

The little Cockney "Ma" was driving a hard bargain with the butcher and had beaten him down from 1s. 3d. to 10d. for the piece of meat she fancied for the week-end. The butcher was resignedly wrapping it up when Ma said in a hurt tone: "Ain't yer putting a lump of fat wiv it?"

The butcher looked at her, sighed, and from beneath the counter produced a lump of fat. As he began to wrap it with the meat Ma leaned over the counter and in her most coaxing manner asked: "Nah come on. What abaint two or three bones fer me dawg?"

Tally Ho!

A man boarded the tramcar with a small dog under his arm. When the conductor came down the stairs the dog set up a terrific din.

The driver, hearing the uproar, poked his head through the front door of the tram and said: "Bill, he must ha' thought you was a rabbit."

IMPROVEMENTS IN CEMENT

Reinforced Concrete Building Code

The Reinforced Concrete Structures Committee of the Building Research Board last week published their recommendations for a code of practice for the use of reinforced concrete in buildings. The committee have given special consideration to the stresses that should be permitted for concrete. They have been impressed with the great improvement in cements and aggregates, and have come to the definite conclusion that industry has at this time reached a stage in development when advantage should be given to the engineer who is prepared to spend time and money in producing consistently controlled concrete. In other words, the day has passed when one stress only should be permitted for a mix regardless of the care exercised, and the general level of strength achieved. With this in mind the committee have proposed three grades of concrete.

Ordinary Grade

The first grade, designated "ordinary" grade, is intended for use in cases where rigid control is not exercised and where considerations of economy or convenience are such that it becomes impracticable to insist on tests. The stresses are regarded as conservative and representative of present practices under such conditions. The second, or "high" grade calls for preliminary tests for greater control during the programme of tests on the deposited concrete. The stresses for this class of concrete represent present practice in certain works in this country, and the committee are satisfied that no difficulty is likely to arise in producing the strengths demanded. The upper limit of the stresses approximates to that allowed by the Ministry of Transport for use in bridges.

The third, or "special" grade calls for an even greater exercise of control and of testing. For this grade the procedure, although common abroad, is new to practice in this country in that the actual predetermined strength of the concrete forms the basis for the permissible stresses. While the ratios between the works test requirements and the permissible stresses have been maintained at the same values as for the other grades, a wider margin has been allowed between the predetermined strength and the works strength in order to allow for any factors still uncontrolled. In the case of columns where bending is important the increase in permissible stresses is, however, more apparent than real, since the methods of calculation involve allowance for the bending, whereas in the past such allowances were not normally required.

Steel and Permissible Stresses

The committee consider that stresses in steel should be limited by two factors—the factor of safety on the yield point of the steel and the extent of the cracking that is likely to occur on the tension side of a member in bending. In the opinion of the committee, an adequate factor of safety will be assured by making the permissible stress approximately 0.45 of the yield-point stress. It is considered that ordinary mild steel to British Standard Specification No. 15 may be safely stressed to 18,000 lb. per square inch. The extent of the cracking should in general not go beyond that experienced with a steel stress of 20,000 lb. per square inch, and it has therefore been deemed consistent to specify a yield-point requirement of 44,000 lb.

per square inch to provide the requisite factor of safety.

Cracking due to bending is not so noticeable with low percentages of steel, since the concrete contributes a greater proportionate tensile resistance than with high percentages of steel. This is more marked in solid slabs than in T beams or other members of reduced concrete sections in the tension zone. On these considerations the tensile stress in hard-drawn steel wire and other approved steel of high yield point has been increased to a limit of 0.45 of the yield-point stress, but not more than 25,000 lb. per square inch when the percentage of tensile steel is less than one. Some consideration has also been given to the question of including separate clauses for deformed bars, but it has been decided that these are best covered by the general claims for special materials and methods of construction.

In adopting for the design of sections subject to bending general assumptions in the form used at present the committee have given close attention to the effects of both shrinkage and creep of concrete under load. They conclude that the theory as at present employed, although not presenting a true picture of the stress condition in reinforced concrete members, will provide an adequate factor of safety. The modular ratios recommended are somewhat higher than the true values, and have been selected so that, when used in conjunction with the tabulated stresses, they will provide an adequate factor of safety. At the same time the fact that the modular ratios are higher than the actual values is a recognition of the ability of concrete to adjust itself to stress conditions by means of creep.

It has not been thought necessary to include any requirement for stress calculation after large amounts of creep have taken place in sections subject to bending, since creep results in a decrease in concrete stress and in only comparatively small increases in tensile stresses in the steel, the ultimate load-carrying capacity of a member remaining practically unaffected. The effect of creep or flow of concrete under load is always to transfer load from the concrete to the steel, and modifications have been adopted which in effect allow for that transfer. Thus, whereas formerly the steel in axially loaded columns was stressed to 9,000 lb. per square inch, stresses up to 15,000 lb. per square inch are permitted.

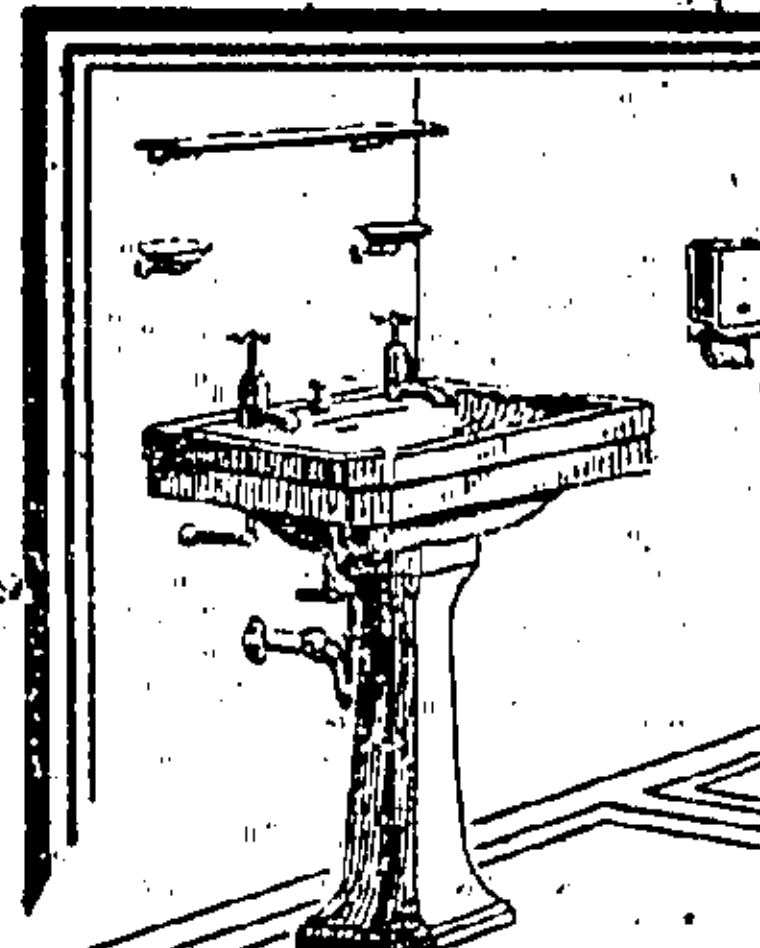

Simplified methods of calculating bending moments are also permitted. The committee recommend that two conditions of loading only shall be considered. These conditions approximate sufficiently closely to the worst conditions for all practical purposes. Moreover, certain reductions are allowed where practical difficulties of concrete consolidation are likely to arise, provided that sections elsewhere are appropriately strengthened. Values for the bending moments in slabs spanning in two directions at right angles have been derived by considering them as perfectly elastic thin plates. This is in accordance with the best modern practice.

A prefatory note to the report of the committee, by Dr. R. E. Stradling, Director of Building Research, mentions that the Building Research Station has had the opportunity, in connection with other work of carrying

NEWS FROM PORTUGUAL

NEW BROADCASTING

The Bank of Portugal is frequently obtaining from abroad gold bars to increase their gold reserves. Recently the s.s. Lipari from Bordeaux brought to Lisbon 113 gold bars valued at £240,000. This shipment, added to many others from African colonies has brought the reserves of the Bank of Portugal to a considerable sum, thereby the position of the Bank being extremely secure.

Portuguese Institute of Cancer
The new Radium Pavillion of the Portuguese Institute of Cancer which was recently inaugurated was visited by President Carmona and Dr. Salazar. The Pavillion and the Institute represent the work of Prof. F. Gentil who was greatly encouraged by Dr. Salazar's special donations towards this fund. The general scheme of the Institute is very vast, and the addition of this new pavillion means the completion of just one part of the general plan.

Dr. Salazar has allotted a further donation of approximately $900,000 out of public funds for the development of the scheme and the home papers state that this will not be enough to carry out the complete project. It is worth mentioning that part of the plans were executed with assistance from the colony of Mozambique and partly with a public subscription organized in Lisbon.

The contribution from Mozambique is intended for research work to be conducted at this African colony in order to deal with cases of cancer frequently observed amongst Africans.

"Pauliteiros de Miranda"

On January 6 last an international dance pageant was held at the "Albert Hall" organized by the British Society of Folk Dances and Songs. Portugal contributed with very original items performed by the "Pauliteiros de Miranda" peasants, of Miranda, a city on the north-western corner of Portugal. The dances were never before performed outside of Portugal and it was a genuinely original contribution to this interesting initiative. The Home Press states that the London society were highly interested with their numbers which were vividly applauded by the public.

Spanish Lottery

A Portuguese, whose name he refused to give, to-day presented for payment the lottery ticket No. 18,343 that won the handsome prize of 6,000,000 pesetas of the Spanish lottery. The Vigo office of the Spanish Lottery immediately cashed the ticket and the fortunate winner left for Portugal.

European Finances

At the annual meeting of the Council of the Liberal Federation of the Western Counties held at Bristol, the President, Sir Charles Hobhouse, while passing in review the European finances stated that the only continental country in a solvent position was Portugal.

Dr. A. Ricardo Jorge

"La Societe Zoologique de France" has invited Prof. Ricardo Jorge of the Faculty of Sciences of Coimbra University (Portugal) to be Chairman at their annual meeting which will take place in Paris, during the last week of February.

Iberian Association of British Culture

A society to develop the study of the English language will be organized in Lisbon during the month of February.

This society shall be under a Board formed by representative personalities of Portugal, England and Spain.

New Broadcasting Station

The new Broadcasting Station of Barcarena was completed early this month. The wave length, will be of 400 meters. Two 300 feet towers 800 feet apart, and a big reinforced concrete structure where all the technical apparatus and broadcasting rooms, offices etc. will be accommodated constitute the general plan of the Station.

Bridging The "Tagus"

The conditions for the tenders for the construction and exploitation of the "Tagus" bridge are now being drafted and translated into English, French and German at the Public Works Office of Lisbon, in order to enable foreign construction companies to tender for this big project. The capital needed for the construction and exploitation of the bridge will represent a very considerable sum.

Agriculture Improvements

A sum equivalent to over $4,000,000 was recently included in the budget for rural improvements in different parts of Portugal. The attention of the Agriculture Office has been concentrated in improving rural conditions and it should be mentioned that Portugal has been producing during the last few years all the wheat necessary for home consumption. A more logical distribution of fruits under the Government control has also contributed towards a more balanced fruit market and the usual disparity of prices of fruit in the North and South of Portugal has been eliminated.

The same with wines. At present no wines will leave Portugal for exportation before they pass through the Government Entrepot at Galla (Oporto) and the quality of wines is thus maintained.

Corporate Organization of Portugal

Dr. Salazar started recently a series of lectures about the new Corporate State which will be the new constitution of the Portuguese Republic. The concise and important statements delivered by Dr. Salazar in his speech were reproduced in "Le Temps" a Parisian daily and transcribed in various other European papers. They all emphasize the declaration that "the direction and control of the Nation's economy can be achieved through the corporate organization of Portugal."

Colonial Exhibition

Preparations for the forthcoming colonial exhibition of Portugal to take place at the Crystal Palace of Oporto during the month of June next, are well in hand and the constant requests for space augur well for the success of the exhibition. The Government is doing everything to make this in-

Squeaker

All Australia is anxiously watching the progress of a small missionary expedition, which has gone to Arnhem Land, North Australia, to try to pacify the warlike Caledon Bay tribes of aborigines.

The expedition is a sequel to a proposal by the Commonwealth Government to send a punitive armed party to arrest the murderers of Constable McColl, who was speared to death while trying to trace the killers of five Japanese pearlers last year.

There was such an outcry against the punitive expedition that the Government abandoned it.

The "peace expedition" is the Church Missionary Society's answer to a challenge that if the Church could suggest a better alternative to the armed party, it should try it. "On seeing that the Society was serious, the Government discouraged the proposed expedition, but, although warned of the dangers they were running, two missionaries and a wireless operator decided to undertake the task.

AWAITING VENGEANCE

The members of the expedition are the Rev. H. E. Warren and the Rev. A. J. Dyer, both possessing considerable knowledge and experience of the North Australian blacks, and Mr. John Porter, wireless operator. They have gone from Thursday Island to the Groote Eylandt Mission, and then will travel to the headquarters of the Balamumu tribe. The tribal belief is that a white man, or men, will come to avenge the death of Constable McColl. They await the avenging party.

Few examples of rare daring and courage in the annals of Christian missions excel this Australian expedition. Messrs. Warren and Dyer will go, absolutely unarmed, into the midst of the disturbed Balamumu tribe.

"It is surprising how easy it is to change these simple children from their purpose by appealing to their sense of humour," Mr. Dyer stated in an interview before his departure, writes a Sydney correspondent of the "Morning Post."

"I have a toy tin squeaker, which I propose to play to the accompaniment of comic grins and gestures, what you would call 'acting the goat.' Once I get them laughing their hostility will disappear."

CAR CRASH ENDS MORAN
AND MACK ACTLugubrious Blackfaced
Comedian Killed

A Charles Mack, the mournfully funny fellow of "Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows," was killed in a car smash in Mesa, Arizona. George Moran, his partner, and Mack Bennett, the film producer, returned to their hotel after being treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Mack and her daughter were slightly injured.

The party were on their way to Hollywood at the time of the smash. They were doing about 45 miles an hour when a tyre burst, and the car turned four somersaults before coming to a stop.

Charles Mack was 43, was born in White Cloud, Missouri, and did all sorts of things—electrician, baseball player, and odd-job man—before he joined up with George Moran, with whom he went to school, in the blackface act that became the most celebrated of all blackface acts.

Relative as impressive as possible and instructions from the Finance Department have been issued that no money will be spared to convert the exhibition into a complete demonstration of Portugal's colonization efforts and progress achieved in the colonies, thereby turning it into a fitting exhibition of the world's third colonial Power.

ALLEGED FRAUD TRIAL

Portuguese and Italian Implicated:

Five more witnesses for the last year when he asked him to find a man who could get a genuine cheque from the Chartered Bank. Accused said he had a friend in the Chartered Bank, the second accused, and then he asked the latter to find a Chartered Bank cheque for him. This the second accused did and the cheque was given Mr. Mack on a Saturday. Mr. Mack later gave the cheque back to the accused and it was then taken by Kashin for several photographs to be taken. For this service, the second accused was given $500 by Mr. Mack, while Kashin got $6,300.

In regard to the printing of forged cheques, the first accused told the Court that this was done at a Chinese shop, but, as the work was not satisfactory, the work was done at a Japanese shop. Forged Cheques having been printed, an account was then opened with the China State Bank to the amount of $1,500 on January 9 or 10, the money belonging to Mr. A. C. Mack. It was Tamburini, Jr. who had taken the forged B. A. T. cheque for $136,888.25 to the China State Bank for collection, the first accused stated.

The first witness called was Mr. Ginsberg, of Messrs. Millington Co., 668 Szechuen Road, who told the Court that on November 23 last year, two Russians, one of whom was the first accused, ordered a block from him at a price of $50, but only the proof was taken by them, not the block.

Dr. Fischer:—Did the two Russians give a written order when they ordered the block?

Witness:—No.

Dr. Fischer:—Did you ask them for whom they were acting?

Witness:—Yes.

Dr. Fischer:—Which name they gave?

Witness:—The first accused said "Bush Mack."

A Newspaperman

Questioned by the Judge, the first accused admitted having visited the Millington Co.'s office last year with another Russian named Kashin. Accused said he did so by order of Mr. Mack. Accused further said that Kashin was formerly on the staff of the "Shanghai Zaria," local Russian newspaper, and that he took Kashin along because the latter spoke English.

Mr. Ru told the Judge that Kashin had been placed under arrest in Mukden where he fled when the alleged fraud was discovered in Shanghai.

Three Chinese and a Russian then went into the witness box after which evidence was given by Mr. Shiller to the effect that he had known the first accused for about half year and that about the beginning of January, he visited the first accused to borrow some money. The first accused, witness said, gave him a cheque for $8,335 on the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank and asked him to cash it. This witness said he did and he was given $300.

Sums Recovered

After Mr. Ru has told the Judge that the police had up to the present recovered a portion of the money allegedly defrauded, including $1,500 from the fourth accused; $4,000 from the second accused; $1,870 at the China State Bank in the name of China Tobacco Leaf Co., $623 at the Kiangsu and Chekiang Bank in the name of Sokoloff, and $450 at the Shanghai Bank in the name of China Tobacco Leaf Co., the examination of the prisoners occupied the remaining session of the Court, the prisoners being brought before the Court separately.

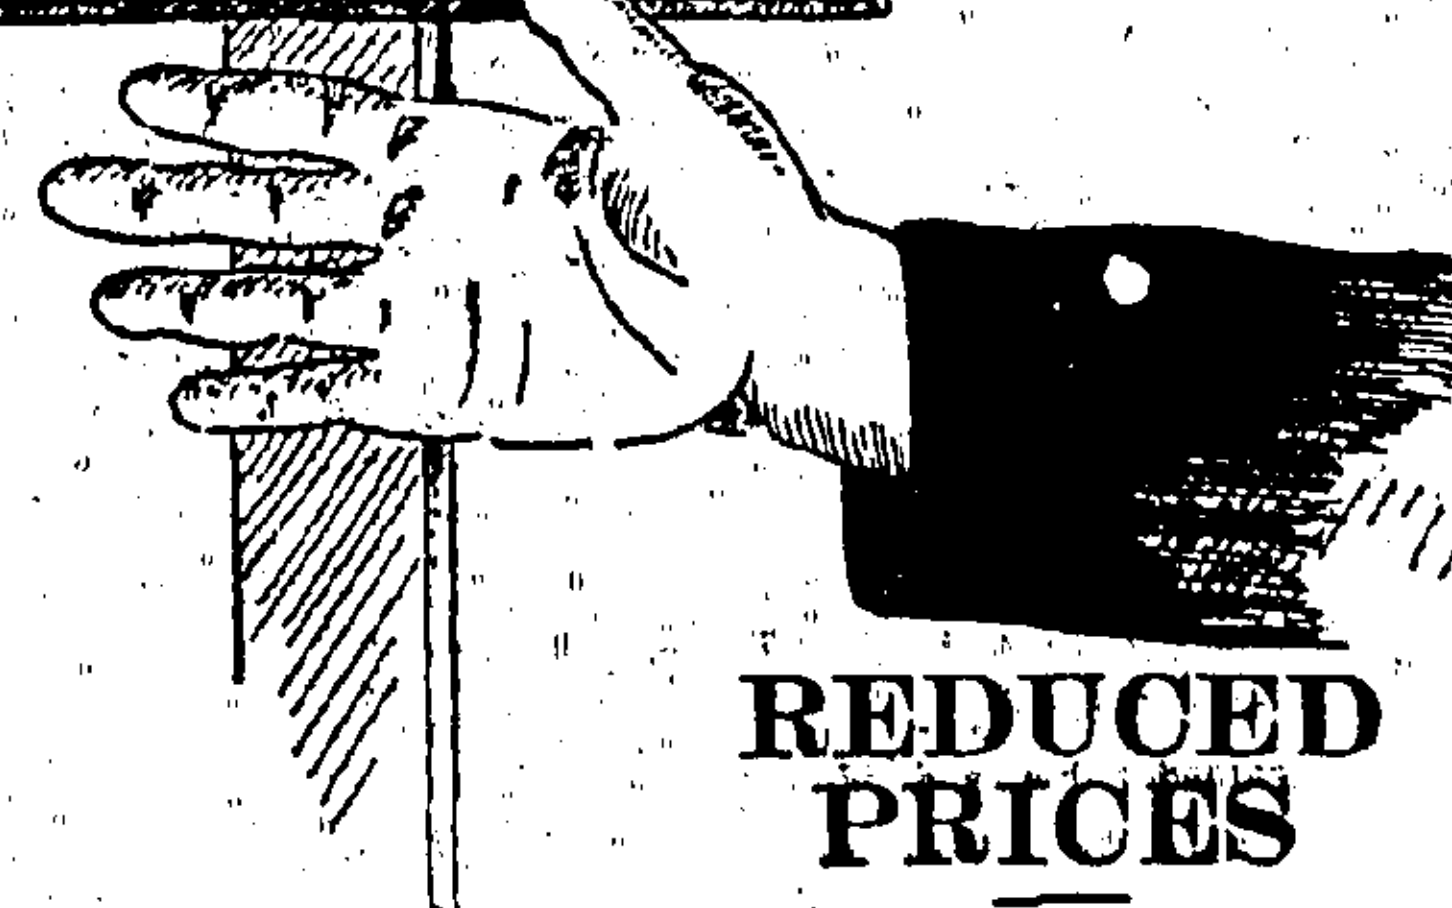

The first prisoner, in confessing his part in the alleged fraud, placed the blame on the shoulders of Mr. A. C. Mack, who, the accused declared, had mapped out the alleged fraud. Having cashed the forged B. A. T. cheque for $136,888.25 at the Chartered Bank, the accused stated, he received from $25,000 to $28,000. Mr. A. C. Mack got approximately $48,000 while a Mr. Baptista, Portuguese, a bank employee, got $10,000 for his part in the offence. Two Italians, father and son, had also received a share each of the proceeds from the fraud, these being Tamburini, sr., and Tamburini, jr. the former receiving $5,300 and the latter, $2,800. Tamburini, sr., signed the foreign name "J. Rice" on all cheques of the China Tobacco Leaf Co. and he was a good friend of Mr. Mack, while his son was an employee of Bush Mack and Co., the accused declared.

At this juncture, Mr. Ru told the Judge that, after this case was concluded in the District Court, the police would take action against the two Italians concerned in their consular court.

Prisoner's Statement

Further questioned by the Judge, the first prisoner stated that Mr. A. C. Mack first asked him to aid in the alleged fraud in September

WIFE TIES HERSELF IN LOVE KNOT

Unlucky Effort To Oust A Rival In Bulgaria

All the men in the audience were fascinated by a pretty "snake girl" who did contention dances when a circus came to Stari Sivatz, says a Belgrade message. Among them was a well-to-do farmer, who was so overwhelmed that he confessed his passion even to his wife, who determined that she must beat her rival at her own game.

So she watched the snake girl do her dances and practised them secretly at home.

A few nights later, when her erring husband arrived home from the circus, his wife came gliding and swaying towards him in what she imagined to be an imitation of the graceful movements of her rival. As a grand finale she sank to the ground and pulled her legs up behind her head.

Then she tried to rise to embrace her gaping husband, but in vain: her legs were firmly locked behind her head.

She called to her husband to help her, but he fled headlong into the darkness, believing that his wife had gone suddenly mad. She lay writhing on the ground until neighbours found her and called a doctor, who disentangled her. She is suffering from severe strains and is believed to have injured herself.

FAMILY OF 4,000

Growth Of The National Children's Home

"There is not a profession, business, trader, or industry which does not include in its list of successes names which will also be found on the family registers of the Children's Home."

This is part of the achievement of the National Children's Home and Orphanage during its sixty-four years of existence, according to "The Children's Crusade," the 1933 year book of the National Children's Home and Orphanage.

In that time its family has grown from twenty lads rescued by Dr. Stephenson, its founder, from the streets of London, to 4,000 at the present time, maintained at a cost of nearly £200,000 a year, four-fifths of which must come from voluntary contributions. Boys are taught to farm, to print, to make shoes, to become tailors, wireless operators, smiths, and engineers, and girls learn domestic duties and nursing, dressmaking, shorthand, typing, and dairymaking.

TAKE A CHANCE

Showing at the Alhambra

Fifty beautiful chorus girls; a cast which includes such outstanding names as those of James Dunn, Lillian Roth, Cliff Edwards, June Knight, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Lillian Bond, Dorothy Lee, and Lona Andre; a battery of song writers and lyricists that reads like a Who's Who of Tin Pan Alley and the expert production of Messrs. Laurence Schwab, William Rowland and Monte Bries, combine to make Paramount's musical extravaganza, "Take a Chance," one of the delights of the current season.

"Take a Chance" opened yesterday at the Alhambra Theatre. This picture must not be classified as just another back-stage romance. Its scenes range all the way from a carnival side show, through a swanky gambling club, out to the homes of the socially elite on Long Island and back to Broadway. Beautiful music, beautiful girls, outstanding work by the all-star cast and a strong story full of thrills, laughter and nonsense are carefully blended into a picture, that is a pleasure to sit through, not once but several times.

DON QUIXOTE

Showing at the Central

"Don Quixote" which opens at the Central Theatre to-day is the picture made last autumn in the South of France with Chaliapine in the title role and George Robey as Sancho Panza.

Strictly speaking this is not Chaliapine's debut—he made a film, "Ivan the Terrible" more than twenty years ago—but he is, perhaps, the most important capture the films have made since talkies arrived. Feodor Ivanovitch Chaliapine, a native of Kazan, had been a shoemaker's apprentice, railway porter and stevedore before he made his operatic debut in 1892; since then he has progressed to international renown and has toured all the principal cities of the world as an operatic star. The film is not, in fact, based on that opera but is taken from Cervantes' classic story by Paul Morand the French writer. Special music has been written for Chaliapine's three songs.

The English treatment is the work of John Farrow, the English scenarist from Hollywood. In the important role of Sancho Panza, Don Quixote's henchman, George Robey makes an eagerly anticipated appearance. The character is almost as important as that of Quixote's and the English stage and screen

"ACE OF ACES"

Last Showing At King's To-day

A fleet of twenty-three airplanes, many of which were flown by famous aces during the World War, makes dizzy immelman turns, double loops, barrel rolls and perpendicular power dives in the thrilling aerial combat sequences of "Ace of Aces." Richard Dix's new starring picture for RKO-Radio Pictures showing to-day at the King's Theatre with Elizabeth Allan.

The planes used in the picture are Spads and Fokkers, Nieuport and Camels. Many of the ships were rented from Garland Lincoln, famous air dare-devil, who leads a group of twelve stunt flyers through the dangerous air manoeuvres which highlight the film.

In "Ace of Aces" Dix is seen as a war pilot who is finally appalled at the thought of killing his fellow men. Able support is given the star by Elizabeth Allan, Ralph Bellamy, Theodore Newton, Frank Courtney and Art Jarrett. J. Walter Ruben directed.

studios were carefully searched before Robey was cast. Come solidly should prove his strong point.

The feminine lead is Sidney Fox, the young Hollywood star of many notable pictures. Sidney came specially to Europe to play as Maria and while here, appeared also opposite Emil Jannings in "The Merry Monarch."

"Don Quixote" was filmed in the South of France and in northern Spain, and directed by G. W. Pabst.

IT'S A BOY

Excellent Mirth-Giving Picture

"It's a Boy" commencing on Sunday at the King's is a picture very full of fun, with amusing situation following amusing situation in rapid-fire fashion.

Leslie Henson has long been established as a comedian who thoroughly knows the art of extracting laughter. In this delightful picture he has an admirable foil in Edward Everett Horton, whose portraiture of a bridegroom haunted by a spectre of the past is admirably painted.

Albert Burdon, Alfred Drayton and Wendy Barrie (the pretty daughter of Mr. F. C. Jenkins) are also notable in a picture giving really good entertainment.

A GAINSBOROUGH PICTURE

They're absolutely mad, this cast—mad and beautiful and hilarious funny and they turn out as good a job of light, carefree summer entertainment as you've ever seen from Hollywood's studios.

It's an insane conception of college life—but how the boys and girls would throng to Mid-West University if only college life was a little bit like this!

Co-eds are out for their men and men are out for their co-eds and getting takes the place of studies and Bing Crosby is an instructor. Jack Oakie, the braggard freshman, enters Mid-West, and "College Humor" registers the events of his four years there. Burns and Allen run the campus sweet shop, selling sweets to the sweeties and nuts to the nuts and they sell as much of one as they do of the other.

If you like a good cry at the movies—don't go to "College Humor," but if you like a laugh—and can stand the strain of one continuous roar for almost an hour and a half—matriculate at Mid-West University down at the Queen's and learn what college life ought to be like, in "College Humor."

Chance At Heaven

CENTRAL THEATRE

Those who like screen romances with enjoy seeing "Chance At Heaven" with Joel McCrea, Ginger Rogers, Marion Nixon and Andy Levine in the leading roles. Interesting sidelights on young love and its various deceptive phases are depicted in Vina Delmar's new story. McCrea is cast as the owner of a service station. He meets a beautiful and rich little girl from the city—a whirlwind romance occurs and threatens the happiness of three people.

The small town girl loses out as the damsel from the big city goes to the country for a vacation. Miss Nixon plays the rich girl while Ginger Rogers portrays the third party in the case. The unfolding of this romantic tangle is said to provide one of the most absorbing stories of love ever brought to the screen. This is to be shown at the Central Theatre.

WHEN IS GHEE NOT GHEE?

Shopkeeper Charged With Selling Mixture

ARMY CONTRACTOR GIVES EXPERT EVIDENCE

When is ghee not ghee? Standing alone, that question might convey nothing to the average man, but the same question is the subject of an unusually interesting case which opened before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at Central Magistracy yesterday when a Chinese storekeeper, Leung Loy Han, of the Yee Sang Loong provision store was charged with selling to Sanitary Officer W. C. T. Lamplill on January 4, last, an article of food not of the nature, substance or quality demanded, the quality demanded being ghee.

Mr. W. R. Cole of Messrs. Geo. K. Hall Brutton & Co., appeared for the defence and returned a plea of not guilty while the Assistant Crown Solicitor, Mr. T. S. Whyte Smith, prosecuted.

A similar charge was preferred against B. Ditta of 66, Hennessy Road but the Magistrate decided to take the cases separately.

STARTLING STATEMENT BY POLICE WITNESS

One of the witnesses called yesterday, Banta Singh, acting Sergeant Major in the Police Force, made the astounding statement that the ghee that is being supplied to the Indian Police was not pure ghee but that it was a mixture of the pure article and what is known as vegetable ghee.

Mr. Whyte Smith quoted many authorities who described ghee as clarified butter, and Mr. Omar el Arcuili, manager of Messrs. A. F. Arcuili & Sons, Army Contractors, who was called as an expert witness, substantiated this.

An Important Case. Outlining the case for the prosecution, Mr. Whyte Smith said that the case was that what they got was not ghee so the definition of the word "ghee" is accordingly important. Counsel continued that he would like to submit that the case is an important case in view of the large Indian community here and in view of the fact that ghee is an important part of their diet. His submission was that ghee is clarified butter and nothing else.

Continuing, Mr. Whyte Smith said, "Just as we can go and buy butter or margarine, so can an Indian go and buy ghee and a vegetable substitute or any other substitute. When you come to consider the relative prices of ghee and this substitute, the question of the purchaser getting what he asks for is very important. Ghee is about 80 cents per lb. and the vegetable substitute is only about a quarter of its price. I don't want your Worship to go into the subject of food qualities or vitamins, but I think it is quite obvious from a public health point of view that a good deal of harm may be caused if people are buying this vegetable substitute thinking it is ghee, and if they still think it is ghee in spite of its low price, then I submit they are being defrauded."

Mr. Whyte Smith then went on to quote several authorities on what is ghee after which he told the Court that on the day in question Inspector Lamplill went into defendant's shop and asked for half a pound of ghee. A foki got the article out from a tin marked "ghee" and charged 35 cents for it.

The officer paid for the ghee and then informed the foki that he was going to have the thing analysed. Following the usual procedure, he divided the ghee into three lots and put them each into a separate bottle.

Expert Evidence

Mr. el Arcuili then went into the box and in answer to Mr. Whyte Smith said that there can be only one definition of ghee and that was clarified butter. Witness went on to say that ghee formed an important part of an Indian's diet and added that as a general rule an Indian ate more ghee than a European did butter.

Mr. Whyte-Smith: Do you know anything about these substitutes?—Yes.

Do you deal in them at all?—No.

You supply on the genuine article?—Absolutely.

When asked if he knew anything about the substitutes, Mr. Arcuili said that although his firm did not deal in them, he knew of an article called vegetable ghee which was not ghee at all. Mr. Whyte-Smith: With regard to your own supply of ghee, how do you satisfy yourself that it is the genuine article?—With each shipment from Calcutta, I get an analyst's certificate and all my ghee is from Calcutta.

If you went into a shop and asked for ghee, what would you expect to get?—I would expect to get something made from the milk of buffalo, cow, goat or sheep.

Not Expert In Substitutes

Cross-examining witness, Mr. Cole asked Mr. Arcuili if he did not deal in vegetable ghee, how he could call himself an expert.

Mr. Arcuili: I do not speak as an expert on the vegetable stuff.

Mr. Cole: Is it very difficult to obtain pure ghee in town?—It has never been my experience.

His Worship (to witness): Are you aware that outside your business there is a vast amount of adulteration of ghee?—Yes.

Re-examining witness, Mr. Whyte-Smith asked if witness were given a bottle of the adulterated stuff could he make it out. Witness replied in the affirmative, saying that he would do so by friction.

Inspector Lamplill and his interpreter then gave evidence bearing out Mr. Whyte-Smith's opening after which Acting Sergeant Major Banta Singh went into the box and said that in the course of his duties, he had to receive rations for the Indian police.

A Mixture

In reply to Mr. Whyte-Smith, witness said that ghee is clarified butter. Asked if he had ever eaten a substance which resembled

TRAFFIC TIME AT CENTRAL

Several Motorists Fined.

H. Soerback, of the Orient Tobacco Factory, was fined $10 by Mr. E. W. Hamilton yesterday for disobeying the traffic signal at Caine Road. It was stated that a private car was being driven up Arbuthnot Road and turned right. The defendant drove along Caine Road from west to east and a collision occurred. The damages had been settled.

His Worship remarked that it was a dangerous spot and special care should be taken by motorists.

Police Test.

The adjourned summons against D. L. Prophet, of Messrs. Linstead and Davis, for alleged reckless driving in Pokfulam Road on January 24, was again before Mr. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

The Magistrate stated he had seen the lie of the land and had driven over the ground. The prosecution alleged that defendant was driving at 43 miles an hour, while the defendant contended his speed was 36 m.p.h., and that the car, which belonged to Mr. J. Bullock, of the Dairy Farm, was not capable of doing 45 miles per hour.

A police test was arranged and his Worship adjourned the summons "sine die."

"Crash" Outside "Central"

J. Choy was summoned for not exercising due care and caution in his car and disobeying a signal at the bottom of the Central Police Station compound in Hollywood Road. Mr. Horace Lo appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty.

It was alleged that Sergt. Paton, riding on a motor-cycle combination, was signalled the right of way on coming down the Station compound slope. On turning into Hollywood Road, he was run into by the defendant's vehicle.

Mr. Lo alleged that the police officer crashed into the defendant. Hearing was fixed for January 13, at noon.

FALSE REPORT TO POLICE

Chinese Cook Gets Six Months.

For reporting a robbery to the Police, which proved to be entirely false, a Chinese was sentenced to six months' hard labour. Another man was sentenced to a similar period for stealing $84.

Detective-Sub-Inspector Nolloth, prosecuting, said on January 7 at noon, the second defendant came to the Wanchai Police Station and reported that an armed robbery had taken place at 46, Ship Street, by three men armed with daggers. In the afternoon, he made a further statement in which he reduced the number to two men, unarmed. Later in the evening, he volunteered to take the police to 26, Spring Garden Lane, where the first defendant was arrested. He then admitted that his story about being bound and gagged was false. The complainant was an amah and left for the country a few days ago. She left her baggage containing some money and this was known to the second defendant. The money was later traced to the uncle of the first defendant. His Worship remarked that the second defendant was more the villain.

Fung Po-wan, charged in connexion with the murderous attack on a woman, Chan Lai-ching, in Queen's Road Central on February 1, was formally remanded for another week on his appearance before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court yesterday. "The woman is still in hospital," said Detective-Inspector M. Murphy, who applied for the remand.

Mrs. P. W. Cameron and Miss N. Cooper were the complainants before Mr. Balfour in Central Police Court in a summons against two sedan chair coolies for allegedly using insulting language at Bowen Road on January 30. The defendants failing to appear, the summons was adjourned for a week.

Charged under the Wild Birds Ordinance, Lan Kwok-ying, described as a professional beggar, was fined $10 or fourteen days' hard labour by Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court yesterday for the unlawful possession of a wild pigeon. The bird is to be forfeited. Defendant said he caught it in Wing Lok Street.

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION AT QUEEN'S COLLEGE

Good Foundation In Chinese Essential

THE HON. MR. A.E. WOOD CONGRATULATES SCHOOL STAFF

Speaking at the Annual distribution of prizes at Queen's College yesterday, the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood said that it was absolutely essential that beginners at Queen's College should have a good foundation in the reading and writing of Chinese, before they joined the school. The right age to join the school was between eleven and fourteen (Chinese reckoning) so as to enable the boy to reach the top class by the age of 19.

Many points of interest are contained in the report of Mr. F. J. de Rome, Headmaster of the School. There were a number of visitors present, including, Sir Thomas Southern, the Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga, Mr. N. L. Smith, Mr. Kwok Siu Lau, Mr. W. Kay, Mr. J. L. MacPherson, Professor Forster and Mr. Ip Lan Chuen.

SHORT SCHOOL YEAR REVIEWED

The Headmaster said in part—The maximum enrolment for the year was 626, the maximum number on the roll at any one time 600 and the average attendance 576. Our accommodation is strained to the utmost capacity. I think that most boys are now completing the full school course than formerly, i.e. going right through from Class 8 to Class 1; this is probably due to the realisation by parents that a boy is better equipped for the battle of life these days by leaving him longer at school, and also to the policy of admitting beginners to Class 8 at an earlier age than formerly. The Government age limit to Class 8 is 14 (13 English reckoning)—we get many boys now at 11 (10 English). I think the limit in this respect has been reached—I do not think it is wise to take them younger; they do not appear to respond very well to an education in English and moreover I am informed that their Chinese is weak at 10. It would be an advantage if all but the brightest boys remained for 2 years in Class 8, but of course all schools would have to fall in line in this respect. The school year was a short one, from January to October. The present school year will end in July. Thereafter the school year will commence in September and end in July.

Staff

I was absent on home leave for the greater part of the school year. Mr. Kay took my place. Mr. Handyside was transferred to Ellis Kadoorie Indian School on January 1st. Mr. Broadbridge was appointed to the Staff from the University in January, and Mr. Maurice as Physical Instructor. Sgt. Betts of the Lincolnshire Regiment has since taken his place as part time instructor. I hope in the near future we shall get a full time Physical Instructor; he could then take charge of games and act as trainer. This would be of great benefit to the boys and to the organisation of games. We hope to stage a tournament later on in the year.

Discipline

The discipline and tone of the school are good. I should like, however, to see the Prefects exert their authority a little more in many minor ways. They rather shrink from undertaking responsibility. I have always found Chinese boys very amenable to discipline by their masters but they do not seem to take kindly to the exercise of authority by their fellow students. It is an interesting subject for speculation how far this is determined by national temperament. The Prefect system in day schools does not as a rule work satisfactorily.

Examinations

There was no Junior Local Examination in 1933—the next University Examination will be the School Certificate Examination in June 1935. In Matriculation 26 passed out of 54, and 4 gained the Senior Local. We congratulate Li Shi Yi on gaining honours, with distinctions in Mathematics and Chinese—he has since gone to the University with an educational scholarship. It was apparently a lean year as regards Matriculation results. Perhaps I should explain that for the last 3 or 4 years, we have been anticipating the conditions of the new School Certificate Examination and have been gradually working up to the position whereby all boys in the Upper School (Classes 3-1) are obliged to take all the 7 subjects in the 5 groups. We have now realized that. Our Matriculation candidates last year (as also our Junior Local candidates in 1932) were not encouraged or even allowed to concentrate on such "soft examination options" as Mechanics, Drawing, Mandarin, Co-ordinate Geometry, etc., or to substitute any of these for History, Geography, Physics, and Chemistry—subjects which from a cultural point of view are much more important for school boys and which from an examination point of view are much more difficult. One rarely hears of a distinction in any of these; the old Matriculation syllabuses were very wide. We were prepared to put all our Class 1 boys in for a proposed departmental examination in the coming June on the lines of the 1935 School Certificate Examination and I regret that the Examination had to be abandoned.

General Education

A general education will always be more fruitful than a specialised one in developing initiative, adaptability and self-reliance. At the same time it is impossible not to recognize that many boys now in the various schools are not capable of pursuing a purely secondary education, that the wastage is great and therefore uneconomical. I pointed this out in 1927 and again in 1930. I will quote a few lines from my Annual Report on this occasion in 1930: "At Class 4 we have a shrewd idea of those who will profit by advanced instruction; to go on with the rest is, I venture to say, educationally unsound. These boys would probably find their level in a different type of school, probably vocational." Further experience has not changed my views expressed four years ago. At home these boys would be drafted at the age 11 (corresponding roughly to Class 4 in Hong Kong) to Modern, Central, Trade or Junior Technical Schools—schools with an industrial or commercial bias and which give, I believe, a practical training to a greater or lesser degree without being purely vocational. Such types of schools should undoubtedly form a part of the educational organisation of Hong Kong, the existing facilities being given of course to boys of real promise to take the full secondary course up to the School Certificate, and to enter the University. A Suggestion

I hope Government can be persuaded to recruit their local clerical staff only from those who have passed the School Certificate Examination, i.e. substitute this examination for the special C.O. Examination which is now held annually, and which is very elementary by comparison. It is now taken by boys from all classes. Boys who have stayed the full course at school should have, I think, a prior claim on Government than the unfinished product. The Hongkong Chambers of Commerce could later on be similarly approached for the recruitment of office staffs; in fact an employment agency for youths could well be set up under the auspices of the Education Department. All this would strengthen the School Certificate Examination enormously, and would, I think, be of great benefit to the Colony generally.

There are now 32 Old Queen's College boys at the University and we continue to get good reports of them, both in work and on the playing fields. I should like to thank the Queen's College Old Boys' Association for their continued interest in the school and for their donations to the Sports and Scholarships; also those who have so generously contributed to the Prize Fund.

Finally I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood for presenting the prizes to-day. Mr. Wood is, I understand, shortly to retire from Government Service after more than 28 years in Hongkong. We, in the Education Department, once had the pleasure of serving under him for 3 years. On behalf of Queen's College I wish him many years of good health and happiness; if I may strike a personal note I hope he will shoot many birds and eagles.

HON. MR. A. E. WOOD

The Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood addressing the gathering said:—Mr. de Rome, Ladies and Gentlemen, Boys of Queen's College:

I count it a very great honour to have been invited by the Headmaster to come here to-day to present these prizes. Governors, and other exalted people like Chief Justices, have been my predecessors on this platform, so you may imagine how flattered I feel.

Well, although I was Director of Education for some years, I am not going to presume on that to weary you with an educational speech. This ought to be an unsplendid day for you youngsters who have a glorious vista of holidays ahead. I congratulate the school on a good year's work, and we shall do well to remember how much of a school's success is due to the patience and zeal of its staff. (Applause).

I was particularly interested in the Headmaster's remarks about prefects in a Dayschool. I was once a Prefect in a Dayschool and although I am now of an age sufficiently advanced for retirement I can well remember a Prefect's difficulties and the call for courage that is made upon him. Those of you who are, or will be, prefects of Q.C. must set your shoulders to the job and strive to conquer diffidence and fear.

Take More to Cricket

The school seems to have done well on the sporting side. I am glad to say that it usually does. I only wish that more of you would take to cricket, one of the three best games in the world. Q.C. and the Chinese Recreation Club stand in a close relation one to the other, and it is my strong personal hope that if I come back here on a visit in two or three years time, I shall find the C.R.C. Cricket team once more going strong as in the palmy days that many of us remember with affection.

Well, I mustn't detain you unduly. There is just one other point mentioned in the Headmaster's Report that I should like to touch on, that is the best age for Chinese boys to begin here at the bottom of the school. It is absolutely essential that they should have a really good foundation in the reading and writing of Chinese, their own language, before they come here. I agree that 14 (Chinese reckoning) is too old, and that Chinese eleven is in many cases probably too young. If you split the difference, I ought to work out about right, and that would enable a boy to reach the top of the School at the age of 19 English reckoning. Well, that is really all, and I thank you, Mr. de Rome, very warmly for your kind reference to myself and for asking me here to-day. I hope it will not be too great a strain on your forbearance if I ask you in your discretion, to give the school a holiday at some suitable date on my account. (Applause).

ST. STEPHEN'S GIRLS' COLLEGE

Mrs. Borrett Distribute Prizes

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR'S WORK

Mrs. Borrett, wife of Major-General O. C. Borrett, distributed the prizes at St. Stephen's Girls' College yesterday.

The girls of the school gave a very entertaining concert prior to the prize distribution. The items consisted of songs, recitations, music and a very brief extract from Goldsmith's "She stoops to conquer."

MISS ATKINS' REPORT

Miss Atkins report was as follows:—

Mrs. Borrett, Bishop Hall Ladies and Gentlemen:—The year 1933 was on the whole very uneventful. Steady work in classroom and playground with little to interrupt the daily routine may sound rather monotonous, but school life is a life of variety and monotony has very little chance to take root.

The system of house prefects instituted early in the year has abundantly justified itself; the prefects have taken their duties seriously and have done their work well.

An experiment was made in the summer to substitute early morning for afternoon school. It was found unsatisfactory for two reasons, one that transport difficulties made it impossible for everyone to arrive in time for school, and secondly, and this seemed to the Staff to be most important—it killed all social life. The triffin hour ceased to be a time of friendly intercourse, the Wa Kwong Club could no longer organise parties and meetings after school hours, and one was too tired after the long morning even to enjoy bathing picnics. So after a month's trial we went back to the old hours.

Apart from this month, the Wa Kwong and Rainbow Clubs have functioned well. In May we took part in a Singing and Dramatic Competition between various schools. It was held in St. Paul's Girls' College, and St. Stephen's carried off the prize for singing. In October we held an Exhibition of Chinese arts and industries, various groups of girls competing, and between us all a very fine and instructive collection of things was produced. November was a month of international efforts. A small group represented China at the International Pageant in Kowloon, while a few days later our own students entertained representatives of about ten different nations to tea. On the more definitely religious side, the weekly visits to the Government Civil Hospital and the weekly student prayer meetings have been faithfully carried on.

The Free School has completed the sixth year of its existence. Girls and boys from the neighbourhood are taught each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon by volunteers from our own school; we have to thank Fairlea School for the loan of two classrooms in which this work is done.

These activities are run by Student Committees, but thanks are very much due to the support of the Staff, and in particular to Miss Li Luk Wa, the Committee Advisor.

Our results in the University Local Examinations were satisfactory. Out of 18 entries, 11 passed Senior, 3 qualifying for Matriculation, and 3 gaining distinction in Biblical Knowledge. In the Trinity College of Music Examinations all our candidates (33 in number) were successful, 21 obtaining honours. Miss Braga is to be congratulated.

Our Annual Sale of Work, which we hold in co-operation with Fairlea School, though not quite so successful this year financially as in previous years still realised well over $3,000 so we were able to give help to the many people who appealed to us.

Our thanks are due to Mr. Kwok Siu Lau, who last year added to his already great generosity by presenting the electric fans which you see in this beautiful hall itself his gift. In the summer months we shall have abundant cause to remember his goodwill and be grateful.

Music Successes

I cannot close this report without a reference to our past students. We meet some of them at Alumnae Association Meetings, and we hear with great pleasure from time to time from those far away in England, in Shanghai, Peking and elsewhere. Caroline Braga is to be congratulated on having won the Teacher's Diploma (Licentiate) of the Trinity College of Music, London, and Choy Oi Chee on having passed the practical part of the examination for the Teacher's Diploma (Associate). Five old girls are on our own teaching staff. Five this year have entered the Hong Kong University, two the Yenching University, Peking, and many others are doing useful work in schools, hospitals and offices. They have our interest and good wishes, and we are helped by their loyalty and love.

And so with hearts filled with thanksgiving, we face the New Year with courage and faith, trusting that God, who has led us in the past, will guide us all the days. (Applause).

MRS. BORRETT'S APPEAL
Addressing the school after the prize distribution, Mrs. Borrett congratulated the staff and students upon their success and appealed to the girls to remember that their teachers had once been students themselves. If the students should feel a little rebellious at times, they would do well to try and see both sides of the picture, and remember that while the teacher is doing her best for the pupil, she also had to look after the discipline and the traditions of the school.

CAPITAL IN JAPAN

Japanese Dairies Seek Industry

Over 120 leading dairy men voiced opposition to the activities of the Nestle Anglo-Swiss Condensed Milk Company in this country when they assembled at the Imperial Agricultural Society Hall. The meeting was sponsored by the Central Live Stock Society (Chuo Chikusan Kai).

Since the Nestle policy is legitimate, they admitted, they cannot restrain its activity. But the condensed milk business in Japan needs no foreign capital, they claimed. The expansion of the Nestle activity is liable to throw the market into disorder, and hinder the healthy growth of the dairy industry.

In order to debar foreign capital, they considered it highly desirable for Japanese condensed milk companies to amalgamate and strengthen their footing immediately, and hence appointed a special committee to push on the campaign systematically. The Committee will shortly visit the Government offices to seek their support.

THE PARLIAMENT OF MEN.

Now that the League of Nations is once more under discussion and looks as if it has escaped from its fate of moribundity, it might be as well if we considered the possibility of the World Economic Conference in its relationship to a settling of the economic questions which are so closely related to political matters.The Parliament of Man, a phrase coined by Lord Tennyson,
once, Poet Laureate, most aptly described the World Economic Conference, which was opened in London by the King of England
last summer. There were present 168 delegates representing 66
states, of which 56 are members of the League of Nations. They included one President, eleven Prime Ministers, twenty Foreign Ministers, about the same number of Finance Ministers, and some twenty-five holders of other Cabinet portfolios. Among them
these statesmen control or guide
the destinies of about 1,800,000,000 persons. It is thus no mere flight of rhetoric to describe the Conference as the most important and the most momentous which the world has ever seen.The King in his speech made a moving plea for a full consideration of the vital problems confronting the assembly. Admirable in substance, felicitously phrased, the manner of its delivery was perfect. It was broadcast throughout the whole world,
and spoken firmly, clearly, and most earnestly, everyone whoheard it must have shared the King's "satisfaction that such a gathering has been possible," and his "confidence that this common endeavour will lead to beneficial results."Solutions for the complex problems which the Conference was called to deal with are a vital and urgent necessity if the world
is to recover from the maladies with which it is now afflicted.What these maladies are was clearly indicated by the King in his speech. Strangely enough they are mostly evils arising from the success with which man has struggled against certain natural forces. For untold ages man lived in a state of scarcity. He fought hard to subdue nature to his needs. Gradually he conquered more and more territory. Science gave him knowledge and tools of marvellous power. The vast treasure house of the world's resources was opened to him. His productive capacity increased enormously. To-day man is surrounded by material wealth of such proportions as could not have been dreamed of only two centuries ago. Yet millions lack necessities, and poverty is their common fate. Production of wealth is comparatively easy; the machinery of finance and distribution has broken down.There is thus a paradox to be resolved. In the words of Mr.
Ramsay MacDonald, British Prime Minister and President of the Conference, "the markets are there, the labour to supply them
is there; but the labour is not employed and the markets are not filled. When we had a less efficient equipment for the making of wealth our national incomes were greater." Naturally no one expects that any conference
can bring about a complete readjustment of the machinery
which is now functioning so badly;
but the more obvious obstructions must be removed and the work of reconstruction be commenced. In the words of the King, "it cannot be beyond the power of man so to use the vast resources of the world as to ensure the material progress of civilisation."Bound up with the whole problem is the question of currency and finance. It will be almost impossible to come to any satisfactory settlement of outstanding questions until some commonA CHANGE OF

At the last minute, Dr. Dollfuss postponed his departure from Budapest on Thursday night, the reason given being that he felt too exhausted as a result of strenuous exertions during the days of his recent negotiations.The opinion, however, has been freely expressed in many quarters that Dr. Dollfuss is really uneasy about possibilities of another parlage. At any rate, a special parlour car was provided on a train
due to leave 11.45 p.m. but two minutes before the time due for its departure a messenger arrived

Lilles, February 9.
There were 3 killed and 40 injured in a rail smash when a light engine crashed into a train filled with miners and smashed
the rear coach into bits.—Reuter.ground has been reached concerning such matters as the gold standard and the exchanges.
Money is the standard of measurement of material wealth, and a stable standard is necessary to any national interchange of goods.
Then tariffs are a hindrance
rather than a help to world trade;
and tariffs must be either abolished or put on some rational basis.
But the main thing to note is that no single nation can now exist to itself.International understanding and international economic co-operation are needed. Mr. MacDonald once stated, "no nation can permanently enrich itself at the expense of others." It is no longer possible for any nation to pursue individual economic aims irrespective of their effects on neighbouring peoples. "The nearer we can make the world an economic unit
the better will it be for each nation." And it is the business of every nation—to take such steps
as will lead to the world becoming ultimately an economic unit.
Final results may be a considerable time before they are apparent, but a world economic conference is one of the soundest ways to lay the foundation of a new order of things in the financial and economic sphere; and in the meantime "make practical proposals to meet urgent necessities."A GIANT SHIPPING MERGERCUNARD - WHITE STAR LIMITED
NOW BEING FORMEDLondon, February 8.
It was announced in the House of Commons, yesterday, that a formal agreement, conditional upon the necessary assent and the passing of legislation by Parliament, has now been entered into between the Cunard Company and the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company and the Treasury, whereby financial facilities will be provided by the British Government for the completion of the new giant liner known as No. 534.The necessary legislation will shortly be introduced. Power will also be taken to give assistance in the laying down of a sister-ship,
but no commitment in that regard is undertaken.A White Paper, giving the terms of the agreement was issued yesterday evening, and states that as the result of the negotiations suggested by the Government, the Chairmen of the two Boards recently arranged terms for a merger. In a new company, of the Cunard and Oceanic North Atlantic interests, and an agreement was thereafter concluded with the Treasury as to the terms in which the Department would recommend the Government to grant financial facilities.

TERMS OF AGREEMENT

The agreement provides that the new merger company is to be called, "Cunard-White Star Limited" or by some other name to be agreed upon by all parties.In order to provide the requisite finance for the completion of No.
534 the Treasury will make advances not exceeding in all £3,000,000
in following sequence.Firstly, advances of not exceeding £1,000,000 to the Cunard Company to be secured by an issue, at par, of Cunard debenture stock.the advances to be handed over by the Cunard Company to the merger company.Secondly, advances of not exceeding £1,000,000 to the merger
company to be secured by the issue,
at par, of debenture stock of the merger company.Thirdly, advances of not exceeding £1,000,000 to the merger company to be secured by the issue,
at par, of income debenture stock,
"Class A," of the merger company.In addition, the Treasury will,
from time to time advance to the merger company, sums not exceeding £1,500,000 to provide the requisite working capital.Of this amount the first £750,000 advanced shall be secured by the issue, at par, of additional debenture stock of the merger company, and the remainder of such advances shall be secured by the issue, at par, of income debenture stock of the merger company, "Class B."The legislation is to include power to the Treasury, in their discretion, to advance to the merger company, a cost not exceeding £5,000,000 of an additional new ship or ships, on terms analogous to those on which the advances of not exceeding £2,000,000 are to be made to the merger company towards the completion of No. 534.The memorandum of the agreement between the companies provided that the new merger company would acquire the North Atlantic goodwill of both companies, their existing North Atlantic fleets and the unfinished ship,
No. 534, and that after its formation, a Board of 10 would comprise six to be nominated by the Cunard Company and four by the Oceanic Company, in proportion to their shares of capital.—British Wireless

CANTONStabilisation of Bank
Notes

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, February 9.
While officials of the Kwangtung
Provincial Bank and of the Provincial Department of Finance are deliberating ways and means to stabilise the government bank-notes, they suffered a further drop to-day and had a tendency of going further downward.Provincial banknotes of $5 and $1 denominations are worth 93 cents per dollar, while notes of the Canton Municipal Bank are valued 85 cents per dollar. Fluctuation continued this afternoon,
and there is no hope for recovery
to par value for sometime, at least, until after the Chinese New Year.Treasury officials pointed out that there should be no effect on the provincial banknotes by the influx of notes unsealed and circulated by landlords, as so far only about $30,000 were unsealed.
In any case, speculators used this
as an opportunity to push down
the value of the notes and reap
a windfall.In view of the demand of merchants to make payments in silver coins, the Kwangtung Provincial Government has issued an order that any payment exceeding one dollar shall be made in banknotes.
Tax bureaux and schools are rebuked for insisting on collecting silver coins, and punishment will be meted out to those who refuse to accept banknotes of the Kwang-tung Provincial Bank.Indicating their co-operation with the government, the leading Chinese banks are willing to accept banknotes as deposits and will repay depositors in silver coins whenever they are available.
However, some of them have received enough banknotes to the prescribed amount and are unable to accept further deposits in paper money.Junior government officials are hard hit by the depreciation, as they are paid in banknotes. On the other hand, many shops and firms pay their staff in silver coins, so that they may not suffer
any loss by depreciation.

DIGNITY"Chinese Detective
FinedRemarking that the complainant took out the summons more as a "blow to dignity" than actually one of common assault, Mr. Wynne Jones at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday fined a Chinese detective, named Leung Wing $15 on a summons for common assault, taken out against him by Tso Chi Woon, a shopkeeper.Mr. C. Y. Kwan appeared for the complainant, and Mr. R. C. H.
Lim, instructed by Messrs. Russ and Co. represented the defendant.
Mr. Tim Murphy, A.S.P. watched the case on behalf of the police.Outlining the facts of the case, Mr. Kwan said that although the case was only one of assault, it had an important bearing as far as the public was concerned, having regard to the position held by the defendant.On December 11, 1933 the defendant went with a man named Tse who personally knew the complainant, to see the complainant in his shop at 480, Canton Road.The defendant was introduced by Tse to the complainant as Chan Wing, a detective. They had a friendly conversation after which the defendant remarked to the complainant that "he was having good business"—insinuating that he was selling raw opium. The complainant at once refused this remark, but the defendant persisted,
at the same time remarking that as the Chinese festival was approaching, he wanted $50. The complainant refused, whereupon the defendant left the shop with Tse, saying that he would call again.On December 20, the defendant called again with Tse and another man who was not known to the complainant. The defendant renewed his demand for the $50 but the complainant again refused.Nine days later—December 22—
the defendant returned with the same two men and called the complainant to come out of his shop.
The complainant accordingly came out of his shop, and there and then, it is alleged, the defendant assaulted him. A fox in the shop, on seeing his master being assaulted, blew a police whistle after which the parties went to the Yaumatei Police Station.Mr. Kwan then called his client to the witness box to support his statement. But Mr. Wynne-Jones said that he was not going to accept any evidence relating to incidents that took place before the day of the assault. The charge against the defendant, he said, was one of common assault and therefore he would take that evidence only. If Mr. Kwan insisted on him taking the evidence he would stop the case at once so as to incumbent Mr. Kwan to make fresh charges against the defendant, for-instance, extorting a bribe.Mr. Kwan remarked that he was not going to assume responsibility of proving incidents other than the one of assault, and agreed with His Worship to take that evidence only.Mr. Lim then submitted that his case was that the complainant
was suspected by his client as being a pickpocket. He wanted to search him on the street, but the complainant insisted on being taken to the police station. He was accordingly taken to there where he was searched but nothing was found on him and he was accordingly allowed to leave by the Sergeant on duty.Mr. Wynne-Jones, however remarked that the case for the defence actually depended on the evidence of the Sergeant on Duty.
If the sergeant said that the complainant did not make any complaint of assault to him, His Worship would consider that point.F. C. Thomas Martin Reeves, who was on duty in the station at the time, was then called. He said that the complainant did not make any complaint at all. He agreed with Mr. Kwan, on "being cross-examined, that anything said by the complainant would have to be interpreted to him by the interpreter."In giving his decision, His Worship remarked that he was satisfied that the defendant did commit
the assault but not to such an extent as alleged by the complainant.
He therefore considered it as a purely technical assault, and imposed a fine of $15.

DOUMERGUE-THE MAN FOR A CRISIS

Forecasts of the New Cabinet

IMMEDIATE ACTION IMPERATIVE TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 9, 7.30 p.m.)

Paris, February 9.

M. Doumergue assembled on Friday forenoon all party leaders belonging to the Chamber and senate in order to draw up a list of new members of the cabinet. The mode of procedure confirmed what had been said on Thursday in parliamentary circles, namely that M. Doumergue aims at having in the new Government representative of all political opinions.

A mid-day paper predicts that the Cabinet will approximately have the following composition, though 11th hour changes are by no means impossible:

Premier M. Doumergue.
Minister of Foreign Affairs: Barthou.
Minister of Home Affairs: Sarraut or Laval.
Minister of Public Works: Tardieu.
Minister of Justice: Cheron or Mattern.
General State Prosecutor at the Supreme Court of Appeal and Public Instructions: Herriot.
Minister for War: Marshall Petain.
Minister for Aviation: General Vuillemin or General Denain.

Minister of Finances: Rit, Deputy Governor of the Bank de France.
Doutry: General Director of the French State Railways, Minister of Traffic.

This seems also to confirm his intention to restrict the Cabinet to sixteen portfolios and abolish State Secretaryships.

The Senate promises accord to Doumergue and cordial loyal support. The idea of the immediate dissolution of the Chamber, first proposed by Right Parties now seems to be gaining favour among Left Parties in the Senate also. At any rate, it is confidently expected the Cabinet will be complete in the course of Friday.

M. Doumergue, is being hailed by the entire Press as the only man capable of rescuing France from her present crisis, which is much graver than that of 1926—that which arose through depreciation of the French Franc—because to-day all the nation's problems clamour for a solution at the same time, political unrest at home an unbalanced budget, empty treasuries, a maximum number of complications in Foreign Affairs all demanding straightening without the least delay, but Doumergue is universally popular for his friendly smile and unflinching optimism.—Transocean Kuo Min.

AN EMOTIONAL SHOCK

Paris, February 9.
All France has received such an emotional shock from riots taking place in Paris this week, above all on Tuesday that City Councillor Emil Faure submitted on Thursday to the Council a draft motion to be placed before the meeting in order to set up a commemorative plate in the Place la Concorde bearing an inscription: "It was here for the first time since 1871 that the Government of France dared to order that the population of Paris be fired upon."—Transocean Kuo Min.

STRIKE INEVITABLE

Paris, February 9.
The general strike proclaimed for Saturday by all Socialist syndicates seems certain, to take place, according to programme at least in Paris. Workers and officials of Unions are making all necessary preparations.
School teachers' organisations belonging to the Left parties have also joined in the movement. Since the new Government has not yet been formed, it is impossible to know what steps will be taken to deal with the situation.—Transocean Kuo Min.

MAIN STREETS QUIET

Paris, Feb. 8.
The main streets are quiet but filled with wreckage. Premier Designate Doumergue, on arriving from his rustic retreat on Tuesday went to the Quai d'Orsay where in the little room made famous by the labours of Briand who barricaded himself for days against only both-come citizens-journalists. In the course of the day he received a string of France's greatest political figures including Marshal Liautey War Minister—Cailaux, Herriot, Daladier, Tardieu and Chairman of the Chambers Finance Commission Malvy. Informed circles believe that Doumergue will take no portfolio and along with three ex-Premiers, Herriot, Barthou and Tardieu will form the rest of the Cabinet almost exclusively with experts and technicians. The arrival of Doumergue is welcomed with the greatest satisfaction and it is expected that the awaited new Premier will be able to command every vote. Though the Chamber's reception is less unanimous than it was expected yet he is believed to hold the whip hand because it is generally assumed that Doumergue has power to dissolve parliament in his pocket, for use in case of necessity.—Transocean Kuo Min.

WORK OF CRIMINAL GANGS

Paris, February 8.
The organised plundering and bloodshed of Wednesday night's disorders is unanimously denominated by the Press here on Thursday as "no political demonstrations but work of organised criminal gangs." Countless shops were broken into and looted on the Champs Elysee, the Rue Tronchet and the fashionable Rue Rivoli, the police being met with pistol fire on their mere appearance on the scene of the mass robberies in most cases. The Capital therefore is breathing a double sign of relief on Thursday as Doumergue takes the firm hold on the reins.—Transocean Kuo Min.

FRANCE EAGER

Paris, February 8.
The eagerness of France to learn the names of the new Cabinet was shown by the large crowds who were waiting for hours yesterday afternoon and evening outside the Quai d'Orsay, where M. Gaston Doumergue, the 70-year-old ex-President, is forming his Cabinet.
Troops stood by the courtyard in case there should be any recurrence of disorder. The crowds, however, were peaceful, having learned from a reliable authority that M. Doumergue had abandoned his idea of forming a Cabinet of ex-Premiers, and also the idea of an "extra Parliamentary" Cabinet.

NOT A REVOLUTIONARY

"I am not a revolutionary. I shall apply the Constitution. Whether it may be necessary to revise it is another matter," declared the new French Premier M. Doumergue in an interview yesterday.
Meanwhile, the Pretender, the Duc de Guise, has issued a proclamation from exile, in Belgium to Frenchmen of all parties, conditions and origins.
"The hour has come to rally the Monarchical principle on which the grandeur of France was founded," it states.
Like Cincinnatus, who was called from the plough to become the Dictator of Rome, M. Doumergue has given up his quiet life on a provincial farm to answer the call of duty, and is now being hailed as the "Saviour of France."—Reuter.

COMMUNIST DEMONSTRATIONS

Paris, February 9.
Communist demonstrations occurred in many parts of France, yesterday, with very little effect except at Lyons, where during a few disturbances, stones were thrown and the "Internationale" sung. The Police, however, were not unduly troubled.
Meanwhile, the Civil Servants' Union has decided to join the general strike on Monday.—Reuter.

SOME PROBABLE APPOINTMENTS

Paris, February 9.
M. Doumergue has the whole Senate behind him, and also the whole Chamber of Deputies, except the Socialists and Communists and a few dissident Radicals. He is thus assured of a great body of support.
It is now believed that M. Doumergue will be Premier and Minister of Justice.
The following appointments are thought probable:
Foreign Minister, M. Barthou.
Minister of Education, M. Herriot.
Minister of Interior, M. Laval.
Minister of Public Works, M. Tardieu.
Meanwhile, the prospect of a Doumergue Ministry has worked like magic. French stocks rose while the fever of unrest fell sharply.—Reuter.

HANDLEY PAGE INVENTION

France To Use Slotted 'Plane Wing

London, February 8.
The French Air Ministry have concluded an agreement with Messrs. Handley Page Ltd. and have paid a substantial sum to them for the full rights of the French Air Force and French manufacturers to fix the Handley Page slotted wings to their aircraft in French territory.
This decision to purchase by the French Government was taken after exhaustive trials which fully substantiated the increased safety which the slotted wing gives.
Incidentally they confirmed the wisdom of the decision of the British Air Ministry in standardising the fitting the Royal Air Force craft, the right to do so being acquired a few years ago for £100,000.
The slotted wing device consists mainly in auxiliary winglets which in normal flight lie flat against the leading or front edge of the wings. When an aeroplane loses flying speed and gets into a potentially dangerous attitude, with nose up and tail down, these winglets automatically slide out from the front of the wings and the effect of the slot thus created between the winglets and the main plane is to preserve an unbroken air flow over the structure.
The pilot thus maintains full control in circumstances which might otherwise send him into a nose-dive and spin, a state of affairs responsible for 80 per cent. of fatal flying accidents.—British Wireless Service.

ENGLISH CUSTOM DUTIES

To Come Into Force On Monday

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 9, 4.30 p.m.)
London, February 9.
The new English Custom duties on imports from France come into force on Monday, at midnight, unless before that time, all quotas originally allowed to Great Britain for imports into France are restored to their former volumes.
A note to this effect, really amounting to a second ultimatum was handed to the French Government on Friday by the British Ambassador at Paris.
Details of the context of the note are not available but in official circles it is said that on French wines, silks and other luxury articles, prohibitive import duties will be imposed.—Transocean Kuo Min.

BRITAIN WARNS FRANCE

Great Britain, it is learned by Reuter, is informing the French Government that retaliatory duties will be imposed from next Monday unless the discriminatory quotas recently imposed on a wide range of English goods, are removed.—Reuter.

ANGLO-JAPANESE TEXTILE TRADE

Meeting To Begin Next Week

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 9, 7.30 p.m.)

London, February 9.
Negotiations between representatives of the British and Japanese textile manufacturers which has so often been postponed in the last six months will definitely begin next Wednesday at the Board of Trade.
The object is agreement about their respective shares in the world markets for the British Textile Industry, having in post-war years felt itself increasingly dislodged by Japanese competition from markets where she held a virtual monopoly.
Almost the only weapon the British delegates hold is a threat of a still higher import duty on Japanese goods entering the British Empire. The Japanese delegation is headed by M. Okada and on the British side by Mr. Barlow.—Transocean Kuo Min.

A SURPRISE RAID

Famous Firm Closed Down

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 9, 4.30 p.m.)
Moscow, February 9.
Without having given any warning of their intentions, the Police authorities on Friday closed a branch establishment of the world-famous firm, Metallgesellschaft of Frankfurt-am-Main, imprisoning the entire staff, including the Director.
The Moscow branch was opened by the firm in 1928, the chief purpose being to put together on the spot machinery ordered by the Soviet Government, also to carry out repairs. No official notification of the steps now taken has reached the German firm, nor has it been possible, so far, to ascertain the reason for this action.—Transocean Kuo Min.

RETROCESSION OF SHANHAIKWAN

To Be Effected To-day

Peiping, February 9.
Chinese circles state that the retrocession of Shanhaikwan will be effected to-morrow when a ceremony will be held at eleven o'clock in the district Government building, marking the return of the city to Chinese control.
With the exception of a few gendarmes, all troops of the Kwantung army moved into the new barracks in the eastern suburb outside the Great Wall.—Reuter.

THE REMAINS OF KARL MARX

To Be Exchanged For Codex Sinaiticus

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 9, 7.30 p.m.)
London, February 9.
A lively discussion is now going on in England as to whether the British Museum is justified in spending the enormous sum of money demanded by the Soviet Government for the purchase price of the manuscript of Codex Sinaiticus.
The famous popular enthusiastic, Dean Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, has made an original kind of proposal to the effect that Britain should exchange the mortal remains of Karl Marx, who lies buried in the Highgate Cemetery, for the much-coveted manuscript. Dean Inge says the British Museum would like to possess for the nation what is believed to be the oldest piece of original text of the Holy Scriptures, but which for irreligious Soviet Russia has no sentimental value.
On the other hand, Russia doubtless attaches sacred importance to the remains of Karl Marx, the "great founder and prophet of Socialism," but that England on the contrary has none for a man who professed to be an enemy of the Christian Church.—Transocean Kuo Min.

SIR PHILIP CUNLIFFE LISTER

London, February 8.
A Nairobi message says that it has been tentatively arranged that the Colonial Secretary, Sir Philip Cunliffe Lister, who has been ill there, shall embark at Mombasa on February 18 to return to England.—British Wireless Service.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS OF LAISSEZ FAIRE

Mr. Ickes Forecasts America's Future

Washington, February 9.
The Senate passed a Bill appropriating $950,000,000 for unemployment relief which was passed in the House of Representatives by 5 votes to 2.
A bloodless revolution has occurred, declared Mr. Ickes, Secretary for the Interior, in a speech describing the accession to power of President Roosevelt. The good old days of Laissez Faire are gone for ever, and the United States is at the dawn of a new era. He predicted that all social abuses and injustices would be wiped out, sweat shops eliminated, slums cleared, and unemployment insurance and old age pensions will soon be introduced, giving a feeling of security to the workless and aged.—Reuter.

EDWARD BREMER RELEASED

Uninjured But Exhausted

Minnesota, February 9.
After being three weeks in the hands of kidnappers, Edward Bremer, the prominent banker, was released near Rochester, seventy miles away from here. He was uninjured but weak and exhausted, and his eyes were sealed with adhesive tape during the whole time of his captivity. A ransom was paid, but the amount was not made public, but it is believed to be $200,000 as the family had expressed their willingness to pay this sum.—Reuter.

FLOW OF GOLD TO AMERICA

Checked by Rise in France Price

London, February 9.
Foreign exchange dealers point out that the exceptionally high re-insurance rates (gold forty-five shillings) that are being paid for the s.s. Paris has appreciably raised the real France price of gold, thus tending to check the flow of the metal to America. The raising of the French Bank rate is expected to have a similar effect.
The situation seems an opportune time for the American Exchange Fund to purchase gold currencies, thus lessening the pressure on the gold bloc, resulting in the under valuation of the dollar. Such action would also aid gold bloc to carry out deflation.—Reuter.

U. S. SUGAR QUOTAS

Roosevelt Proposes Strict Control

Washington, February 9.
Strict control for sugar was outlined in President Roosevelt's message to Congress yesterday, recommending the experiment of quotas on home production and imports from Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Philippines, Cuba and the Virgin Islands.
The message also recommends an amendment to the Agriculture Adjustment Act to make sugar beet and cane basic agricultural commodities, which will enable the collection of a small processing tax on sugar, the proceeds of which will be used to compensate farmers holding their production down to the quota level.
The object of the legislation is to reduce the price for consumers and to provide for the retention, but no further expansion of the home industry.
The quota will apply to raw sugar and to the 1934 crop, and might be retroactive to January 1.—Reuter.

Nosebag Chaff

On a very wet morning at Billingsgate market I saw a carman back his pair-horse-van into position for loading. Before putting on the nosebags he wiped his dicky and got two sheets of brown paper, which he put under the harness front feet (to keep the bottom of the nosebags dry and clean).
A porter standing by asked: "Want a bit of string, mate?"
"String, what for?" said the driver.
"Oh! I thought as 'ow yer was going to tie 'em up in a brown paper parcel."

HOME FOOTBALL

NORTH EAST WEST SOUTH

From All Points Of The Compass

In the clashes between the First and Second Divisions the latter were brave and skilful. Stoke City and Leicester City each scored twice, the same as nine other clubs in yesterday's round, but then these clubs ought to overcome Bradford and Lincoln City. That was "veteran," if Lombard will pardon such a description of a man still subtle on the ball and so assertive, was the main cause of Lincoln's downfall. Quite in another class is Preston's win over Leeds United at home. Here again the issue was settled by another "old" campaigner, for Robert Kelly scored the goal that won the match. What an artist remains, for his long high shot that dived under the bar must have made the elder generation think of some of Bloomer's drives against Scotland. Leeds United fought back, as is the jargon of the day, but they had not a Kelly, not a really good shot among their forwards. Among the drawn games between the higher divisions there was some good play. Liverpool took the lead against Fulham with a thirty-yard drive by Hodgson. The theorist will say that no drive of this length should beat a goalkeeper, but with Hodgson's clever behind the ball he would be clever to stop it. A quarter of an hour later Finch dropped a low centre at the feet of Lambert, who thinking of his Cup exploits with Arsenal, crashed the ball into the net. Afterwards Liverpool could not make any further impression upon Fulham, who deserved to retire on equal terms for their quickness on the ball and to the tackle.

"UNLIKELY MEN"

The most unlikely men did the principal work for Manchester United and Portsmouth. McLenahan equalised the record five minutes from time, but it should be added that Worrall, who really played a brilliant game, should have won the game from the penalty-spot. Plymouth really tested Huddersfield Town. The Argyle scored first through Cookson, but there were still seventy minutes to play. Not until the eighty-eighth minute of the match was Boyle's centre turned into goal by McLean. This was a great struggle, and it is interesting to see that Black, the renowned Scottish outside-left of Plymouth, was a source of great anxiety to both Goodall, the right-back, and Turner, the goalkeeper of the Yorkshire club.

Those who wondered how the Arsenal team would acquit themselves after a tragic week were relieved when they saw the defence was causing terrific pressure by Luton. The game was strenuously fought, but Moss and Hartford, the rival goalkeepers, played their parts with safe hands. A quarter of an hour from the close the game looked like being drawn, but in the next three minutes the game was won. Bastin, the greatest match-winner of the day if he be given the ball, made one of his dazzling dribbles and presented the ball to Dunne, who headed into the net. Luton can pride themselves that the united efforts of England and Ireland were necessary to beat them.

In six matches First Division clubs were bracketed. Tottenham Hotspurs gained the most decisive victory in this little section, as Everton without Denn, who could not trust the leg that has recently been operated upon, could not break through the defence of the South-eastern. The Hotspurs were much the cleverer. Not only had they speed, but they had good combination helped by a crisp and accurate touch. Meads and Evans made such headway in one movement that Hargrett was able to score. A goal lead in twenty minutes was a strong argument. In the second half Everton had two free kicks given against them by the referee. Colquhoun placed the first of these so adroitly that Howe was able to increase the lead; and, of course, Evans converted a free kick. He can use a still ball nearly as well as Houghton of the Villa. Thus with about half an hour to play, Everton, the brilliant victors last April, were virtually thrown out. They tried hard to change the course of events, but all one can say is that they nearly got a goal. Tottenham played well, and were decidedly the better team.

Manchester City had almost as pronounced a win over their old loemen, Blackburn Rovers, who fought hard, but the team-work of the Citizens was admirable. Those fine wing raiders, Brook and Tosseland, produced their most sparkling allies. They were really brilliant, and scored all the goals. Brook gave his club the lead, but Bruton, of the Rovers, equalised. It was not possible to keep Tosseland in check, and he put on two goals. This came the exit of one of the clubs which has six times carried off the Cup. At St. Andrew's both Birmingham and Sheffield United played a fast game full of thrills. At half-time the visitors were leading by a goal from the foot of Body, their new Scottish centre, who just added the ball past Hibba. Birmingham were desperate to win, and succeeded, for Robertson, their latest importation from over the border, obtained a goal that was well reserved although so long delayed. Then came the struggle for the odd goal, and this was got by Haywood just before time. Nevertheless Birmingham deserved to succeed, as they played the better. The Wolverhampton Wanderers and Newcastle United had a tremendous struggle, but both teams were remiss in front of goal. The play was so varied that the advantage lay alternately with the teams. Four minutes from time Hartill, the Wanderers' centre, parried to Phillips, the Welsh outside-right, who scored. The defence of the Wanderers was sorely taxed in the closing minutes, but Newcastle could not save themselves from defeat.

In December Sunderland visited Middlesbrough and won by 4-0, mainly owing to three goals from Gallacher. In their last six matches Sunderland have failed to pieces and have never won. Middlesbrough have been playing remarkably well, and they produced much of this from yesterday at Roker. The result was that Cammell gave his club the lead. Nevertheless Sunderland recovered and Carter headed an equalising goal fifteen minutes after the interval. The shooting of both teams was poor. The game between Chelsea and West Bromwich was disappointing. Robbins, playing at outside-left instead of Wood, opened the scoring by touching a corner-kick into the net. There was a strong appeal against the validity of the goal, presumably on the ground that the ball had been handled, but the referee, who was on the spot, saw no cause to change his decision. Once or twice Chelsea made a combined move that encouraged that hope of their supporters, and at last Gregg insured a draw by utilising a pass from Priestley, although one felt that Pearson was not at the particular moment in his happiest vein. The second half was more of a scramble than class football by class teams. The Albion were the better side and it seemed as if Ghidini and Carter failed to make the most of their opportunities.

Notes On To-day's Games

In Division I, Reccelo and R. A. replay the match of December 2, as the Council decided that owing to irregularity, the result, one goal to nil in favour of Reccelo, could not stand. The Gunners expect to secure full points.

The East Lancashires visit the Railway ground to pull up a fixture that came in the draw with Kowloon before the Regt. arrived in the Colony. They expect to repeat their previous success when they defeated Kowloon at Sookun-poo by the odd goal in five.

In the first game in the second Division, the Lincolns and Navy played a goalless draw. The Navy expect to win to-day on the Railway ground. Young Indians went down heavily in their previous league game with the Borderedos who should again win to-day.

South China will not find the Club as easy as they were when these teams met last, South China winning by five clear goals. The Athletic went down to the Gunners by four goals to one in their previous meeting. The Athletic expect to go very close to-day.

In Division III, the Lincolns cannot afford to treat the R.A.S.C. in the vein as the Corps have not been beaten since 25th November last, when they went down to the Lincolns by seven clear goals. South China, R.A.M.C. and Radio should win in Division III.

LAWN TENNIS

Yesterday's Championship Games

Four doubles and one singles were played off yesterday at the H.K.C.C. ground, when the game between G.R.M. Ricketts and Beach-Thomas v. J. Cassumbhoy and I.M.A. Razack, drew a large number of spectators. After offering a stout resistance in the first set, the British pair failed to maintain the same form and lost the second and match, the final score being 8-6, 6-3.

Interporters Win
Ho Ka Lau and Tsui Wai Pui had an easy time against S. E. and D. S. Green. The interporters will probably be opposed to the Rummah cousins in the semi-final and will, perhaps, present the first serious obstacle to the title holders in the present tournament.

The game between Goldman and Fincher against M. W. and M. K. Lo was postponed owing to the fact that Goldman was ill.

In the other doubles, C. A. Barretto and A. B. Remedios beat G. Gamble and J. G. Haigh and F. H. Kwok and S. W. Liang had an easy win at the expense of J. J. Remedios and L. A. da Silva.

Results.
The results were as follows:—
Singles
Lt. H. D. Tullington beat Lt. Com. Jacob 6-1, 9-7.

Doubles
C. A. Barretto and A. B. Remedios beat G. Gamble and J. G. Haigh 6-2, 6-3.

F. H. Kwok and S. W. Liang beat J. J. Remedios and L. A. da Silva 6-1, 6-0.

Ho Ka Lau and Tsui Wai Pui beat S. E. and D. S. Green 6-2, 6-2.

J. A. Cassumbhoy and I.M.A. Razack beat G.R.M. Ricketts and Beach-Thomas 8-6, 6-3.

Marine Court Cases
Unlawful Boarding Of Ship

Li Kwai Mui and seven others, all described as sing-song girls, appeared before Commander Hole at the Marine Court yesterday, charged with unlawfully boarding the Dutch Steamer, Tjinegara last Thursday, without the permission of the master or the officer on duty.

All the defendants pleaded guilty and said that they boarded the steamer with a view to get some business by singing songs.

In imposing a fine of $20 each, his Worship remarked that from now on, he hoped there will be no more group of women boarding the steamers in the Harbour. If any similar case were such cases brought before him, again he would increase the fine to $25.

PRIZE DAY AT ST. PAUL'S

Sir Henry Pollock Distribute Awards

EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR OF THE COLLEGE

The annual speech day of St. Paul's College was held last evening in the presence of a large gathering including Bishop Hall, the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock and the Hon. Dr. and Mrs. S. W. T'so. A very successful year was reviewed by the headmaster, Mr. E. G. Stewart, and before the distribution of the prizes, the gathering was treated to a delightful concert by the student.

In his report for the past year, the Headmaster, Rev. E. G. Stewart, said, "Inter alia"—My Lord Bishop, Sir Henry Pollock, Ladies and Gentlemen—

To-night we complete the eighty-fifth year in the history of the College. The past year has been eventful in one respect, in that we have at last carried out the alterations in the main block of the school buildings, and added another storey. The work was done as far as possible during the summer vacation, but a considerable amount remained to be completed during term, and school work was consequently for a time carried on under considerable difficulties.

The addition to the building has given us five additional classrooms, large and, well-ventilated, and we can now dispense with some of the rooms in the Wu Ting Fong Hall which, owing to their proximity to Glenageary, are somewhat noisy.

Owing to the building operations and the necessary curtailment of space, there has been a slight decrease in numbers. This, however, is only temporary and will soon be made up, particularly now that we have extra classroom space. The attendance throughout the year was quite good, being 93 per cent. of the total number on the roll. Fifty-five boys attended without missing a day.

There have been some few changes in the Staff during the past year. In July the Rev. A. D. Stewart retired after twenty-four years in the College, during which he was headmaster and as member of the Education Board he did excellent work, on the value of which there is no need for me to expatiate, since it is well-known to you all. He carries with him the good wishes of all of us in his transference to a different sphere of work. Of the other members of the Staff we have lost Miss Fullerton and Miss Singleton, both of whom have returned to England, and we welcome in their place the Rev. A. J. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett.

High Percentage of Attendance.
This School and Hostel premises were inspected twice during the year by Dr. Wong, the Medical Officer for Schools, who expressed his approval on both occasions. The health, both of boarders and day boys, has been good, as evidenced by the high percentage of attendance. Another satisfactory feature was that the eyesight test showed a great reduction in the number of short-sighted boys, as compared with previous years. We also had a visit of inspection from Mr. Sutherland in October. He had the pleasure of seeing the school building at its worst, during the renovation period. His report was very favourable; one of the classes being, specially commended; and he gave us, as usual, some very useful criticisms and suggestions.

Our senior class of last year did very creditably, taking into consideration the fact that the building operations rather upset the timetable at a crucial stage. Four members of the class passed the Hongkong University Matriculation; six passed into St. John's University; five entered Lingnan; one, Yen Ching and one, Shanghai College. Twenty-three members of the class qualified for the Chinese certificate. The results in languages were good, particularly in Mandarin, in which only one of the class failed. In this connection I wish to express our thanks to Mr. Li Chi Wa, an Old Pauline, now Inspector of Schools in Malaya, who has given a special prize to be awarded annually to the candidate who does best in vernacular subjects.

In the other classes the work was on the whole satisfactory, Class 3 having the highest percentage of passes.

The alteration in the date of the University examinations has occasioned a change in the school year, which in future will end in July. This has meant an extension of time for those of the senior class who wish to sit for the Hong Kong Matriculation or Leaving Certificate examinations, and a considerable shortening of the school year for the other classes, promotions having taken place in November. The alteration in the time of the examinations will, we think, with general approval, as will the abolition of the Senior Local Examination in favour of the new Schools Leaving Certificate examination with its wider range of subjects.

As regards the athletic side of the work, football, volleyball, basketball and tennis have been played throughout the year. In the inter-school volleyball competition we carried off the fourth consecutive time and the Small Boys championship for the fourth consecutive time. We also competed in the inter-school basketball competition and the combined schools athletic sports. In our own sports the long jump championship deserves mention in that he not only broke the school record but also tied with the existing national record—a remarkable feat for a schoolboy. During the Easter holidays the volleyball and basketball teams travelled up to Swatow and played several matches with the local teams. There has been a revival of interest in football, and the success of the recent match between Hong Kong and Kowloon schools leads us to hope that in the near future it may be possible to resuscitate the Schools Football League, which has been dormant for eleven years.

Boy Scouts.

The Boy Scouts had a very successful year. Owing largely to the energy and enthusiasm of the Assistant-Commissioner, the Rev. N. V. Howard, new life has been infused into the Troop. The Scouts have done their good deeds each Saturday afternoon, working on the improvement of the camp sites at Sai Wan. Our camp during the Christmas holidays was well attended, and the Troop finished their season by winning the competition for the Prince of Wales banner.

Time prevents reference in detail to the successes of Old Paulines. Of those who have graduated from various Universities during the past year, I would like to mention in particular Lee Shu Ying, Pong Tak Ming, Cheung Shu Tong and Tung Hang Chee, not only on account of their success, but because of the good work they have done in connection with the Old Boys Association. We have to deplore a loss in the death of Mr. C. C. Wu, who like his father, one of the earliest students of the school, was always a staunch friend and supporter of the College. The Old Boys Association, recently reorganised, is a link between the College and the wider world outside. We are always glad to hear of Old Paulines, scattered as they now are throughout the world, and the Association is the best means of keeping in touch with them. There are already branches of the Association in Shanghai and Canton, and we hope that others will be formed ere long.

Others Activities

Our other activities need be mentioned only shortly. The free night school, a really institution, has now been in existence for more than twenty years. It is financed and staffed entirely by the boys of this College, and its object is to afford elementary education in both Chinese and English to those whose circumstances do not permit of their attending any of the day-schools. The teaching staff consists of thirty-six, each of whom gives one evening in the week, and there has never been a shortage of volunteers. A number of others from the College are assisting regularly at the Shelter for street sleepers. In addition, we still maintain a school at Aberdeen, supported financially by the boys, though the need for this school is not now so evident.

Finally, I wish to express my thanks to the members of the College Council and to the Staff of the College for their support during the year, and to all those of you who have assisted us in various ways.

RT. REV. BISHOP HALL

In welcoming the guests, Bishop Hall, who presided, said that he was glad to say, for the first time, that there was now a new St. Paul's College, the approach to which had been built. He said he would be leaving for the rural districts near Sheklung in Canton later that night, and would like to mention that an old boy of

WHEN IS GHEE NOT GHEE?

bles ghee and which was made from vegetable, witness said, "Yes. The ghee which I receive in my ration is mixed with vegetable ghee."

Mr. Whyte-Smith: How do you know?—I can tell by the smell and whenever I get it I return it. In answer to a further question, witness said that he sometimes bought this vegetable ghee, not that he liked it but because it was so much cheaper.

Mr. Whyte-Smith: What do you call it when you buy it?—Vegetable ghee.

Mr. Hamilton: What do you call the genuine article?—Just ghee.

Mr. Cole (cross-examining): Have you heard of a mixture of the two ghees?—I have heard that store-keepers mix them and then sell the mixture as the genuine article.

I put it to you they sell it much cheaper?—No.

How much do you pay for a pound of the pure ghee?—You can't get pure ghee here.

Mr. Whyte-Smith: I cannot believe it when he says he cannot get pure ghee here.

His Lordship: It does not affect Mr. Arculli's goods as he only sells it wholesale to the Army.

After further questions were put to the witness, the case was adjourned till Tuesday, February 13, at 2.30 p.m.

BREAKING A BREACH OF RULE

"This kind of mooring is not only dangerous to your boat, but more dangerous to the others near-by the road, and that is why I want to punish you," remarked Commander Hole at the Marine Court yesterday, when Leung Kam Fook, coxswain of the S.L. Koo Ying, was charged with failing to keep to the side nearest his starboard hand while underway in the Southern Fairway on 3rd instant.

Defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $15 or two weeks hard labour.

Changing China

Autumn Quarter

A quarterly non-political review of life and conditions in China.

"... Changing China is an interesting and useful quarterly. The articles which it contains have been written in the form of letters by men and women of various ranks
of life who are living in the interior of China.
The reader gets a picture or rather a series of pictures of life in Modern China, and at the same time a resumé of the progress made in industrial development during the past quarter."

Published By HONG KONG DAILY PRESS, LTD.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The following is taken from the
"TIMES" LITERARY SUPPLEMENT
dated 19th October, 1933.

CHANGING CHINA. A Quarterly Non-Political Review of Life and Conditions in Modern China.
Vol. I, No. 1 April, 1933, 128 pp. Vol. I, No.
2, July, 1933, 128 pp. 7 x 4 1/2. Hongkong Daily Press (63, Fleet Street, E.C.4.). 1s. 6d. n. each.

In a preface, the editor explains that the purpose of this newly established quarterly is to keep a record of the progress of events in all parts of China and, by disseminating a fuller knowledge of the country's actual conditions and needs, to assist in the promotion of trade and a better understanding between East and West. To this end, qualified correspondents in every province have undertaken to supply reports, commentaries, and forecasts. The first two numbers contain several articles on interesting subjects—e.g., the industrial development of the Kuang-chow province, the spread of Communism, the condition of the native cotton industry, and the Mind of Young China.

AMERICA AND SHIPPING POLICY

Owner's Reply To P. And O. Chairman

A statement is issued by the American Steamship Owners' Association of New York, under the date of December 14th, in which Mr.
Franklin D. Moody, President of the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Steamship Lines and Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Competition
of the American Steamship Lines, refers to reports on shipping sent from London and published in the United States Press.

In the course of the statement Mr.
Moody says:—

"I hate to disagree with our friends across the sea, but such attacks as those of the past week really clarify the American position.
American shipowners are compelled to reiterate, once again, that we are not seeking the cargo of Great Britain or any other nation. We carry but a third of the freight originating within our own borders.
Sixty per cent. of Great Britain's ships seek employment in outside trades. Our vessels are confined almost exclusively to our own business. English vessels carry almost half of the trade of the entire world. They carry a third of the American business—as much as we ourselves carry. Yet Alexander Shaw complains because a couple of American lines have picked up a little freight in the Far East."

"Any move to reserve the business of ocean transport to the country of origin would be to the detriment of England and the wholesale advantage of this country. We organize more commerce than any other nation. Reserving that trade to domestic-flag ships would give us the mightiest merchant fleet on earth. In the passenger-carrying trades we are in an even more fortunate position. Americans constitute 70 per cent. of all travellers on the North Atlantic. We pay 85 per cent. of all fares and occupy 93 per cent. of all first-class cabins. With drawal of American patronage
would ruin every foreign line serving on our shores. Such an eventuality is sincerely to be deplored,
but could easily come about through public preference should international conditions convince the American people of the wisdom of such a course."

"It would be interesting to observe the reaction if there should arise
on the other side of the ocean a situation analogous to that prevailing in the American cruise business.
Here, for many years, we have been confronted with the problem of foreign vessels cutting into established routes at the height of the tourist season. Some of our lines have maintained these routes for half a century or more, in good times and bad. Yet, year after year, outside lines are allowed to come in and skim off the cream. Mr.
Ruefman is certainly on dangerous ground when he says: 'We want to see British firms—from every port of the Empire—using only British ships.'"

THE "BIG STICK"

Mr. Shaw characterized the Merchant Marine policy of the United States as a "big stick".
American shipowners earnestly deny that there is any big stick involved.
If we were carrying as much of Great Britain's commerce as she herself carries, if we were carrying the bulk of her passengers, if we were running holiday cruises out of her ports and demanding a still greater share of her business, then we might justly be accused of wielding a big stick. We give two-thirds of our freight to foreign ships and about three-fourths of our passengers.
Any greater percentage would mean the extinction of American lines in foreign trade.

"The principle of Government support for shipping, as provide in the Jones-White Act of 1920, seems to anger our foreign friends most of all. All of the woes of world shipping, are laid at our doorstep. Our policy is variously described as unfair, unethical, unfriendly. British shipowners know full well that,
without some form of Government aid, American vessels cannot possibly compete with the more cheaply operated vessels of Foreign Powers.
Either we have some measure of support to offset the higher cost of operating under the American flag,
or we have no ships in foreign trade."

SUBSIDIZING OF SHIPS

"One wonders why, if subsidies aid so unfair, they are now urged by the British. The answer that they are a reply to the subsidies of other nations might be applied with equal force to the United States.
Great Britain has not hesitated to subsidize her vessels in the past.
The Lusitania and Mauretania were built with Government loans....
This was at a time when the American Merchant Marine was practically nonexistent. Practically all nations to-day subsidize shipping in some form or other, despite the fact that they are already subsidizing by lower operating costs. The British mercantile marine, as an instance, employs 43,000 Lascar seamen, at wages ranging down to $7
a month."

"Another foreign charge has to do with the alleged dumping of ship tonnage by the United States. This country has built 42 ships as a result of the Merchant Marine Act.
Our competitors have turned them out literally by the hundred. England has outbuilt us 10 to one during the past decade. At this very moment, when Mr. Shaw is loudly proclaiming our guilt in the matter of excessive construction, Great Britain and Irish yards have on the ways more than 300,000 tons of new building. The United States has exactly 14,654 tons. Our construction is 2 per cent. of the world today. England has 40 per cent. The British figure includes two large vessels being constructed for one of Mr. Shaw's own companies, with a third about to be started."

SHAI MARKET COMMENT:

Supplied By The A.O.F.C.

Restricted trading and prices
moving within narrow limits characterized the January Settlements, which was quite natural, owing to year-end-closing-of-accounts and the Christmas and New Year holidays. Only a limited amount of business was done last Wednesday;
the most active issue was Trans-
"B" placed at 49.50 for cash, and a further 200 at 49.75 for February.
Some business was done in Shanghai Wharves at 354 for cash. The bright spot in Thursday's market was the action of Ewos which opened at 13.50 and advanced to 13.60
February. Considerable activity

was witnessed in the rubber section on Friday, in harmony with an improvement in the Singapore market, amounting to five-eighths of a cent
for the raw material. A turnover of more than 60,000 rubber shares
was registered with Tebonge, Tanah Merah and Samagaya leading the list. Rubbers remained in the centre of interest on Saturday, but the better class shares were difficult to obtain despite the fact that buyers
were offering considerably better
prices than on the previous day.
Approximately 54,000 shares changed hands. Only a small amount of business was recorded on Monday,

aside from the rubber section.
Shanghai lands closed at 8.90, February, 1,000 International Investment Trust shares were done at 13.40, and for Chinese engineering and Mining 20.10 cash was paid.

After small fractional losses on the first day, the Chinese Government Bond Market climbed slowly upward during the final week of the month of January. The pace of the advance was steady and an average of half a point was gained on each of the following days. The January figures were eliminated on Friday and the quotations for February moved upward by about a point for the last two days of the month.

BOXING

Harvey Beats Gains

London, February 8.
Len Harvey put up one of the greatest fights of his life at Albert Hall to-night when against all predictions of the experts, he defeated Larry Gains, holder of the Empire heavyweight title.
By his successful challenge, Len Harvey gained his fourth championship of the year, his previous outstanding performance being his smart victory over Jack Peterson, for the British title.
Harvey won to-night on points
after a fifteen rounds contest
with the Canadian champion,
which was packed through with thrills.

Weight Disparity

Although he was at a serious disadvantage in weight (Larry Gains weighed in at 15 st. 5 1/2
lbs. and Harvey at 12 st. 10 lbs.)
Harvey boxed brilliantly to secure an unexpected victory by a wide margin of points.

Gains perhaps had only himself to blame. He adopted surprising tactics, allowing Harvey to take the initiative and to do the forcing. Instead of making the best use of his weight superiority by going all out from the first bell.

Punishing Hooks

In the circumstances, Harvey
was able to dictate the terms.
He was in and out, keeping clear of Gains' hefty rights, until in the last few rounds, with Gains obviously tiring, he definitely carried the fight to his opponent, darting round the ring delivering flashing lefts and rights when he pleased.

He did most of his scoring with a straight left and punishing work with hooks to the body.—Reuter.
